

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

Woman's College of the University of
North Carolina

JULY 1939

114390

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

PUBLISHED FOUR TIMES A YEAR: JULY, NOVEMBER, FEBRUARY AND APRIL. BY THE ALUMNAE AND FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, GREENSBORO

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

CLARA BOOTH BYRD, Editor

OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

President, SUE RAMSEY JOHNSTON FERGUSON (MRS. R. S.)

Vice President, JULIA WATSON MAULDEN (MRS. PAUL)

Honorary President, LAURA H. COIT

General Secretary, CLARA B. BYRD

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Lillian I. Massey, Caroline Goforth Hogue (Mrs. Richard), Julia Lilly Montgomery Street (Mrs. C. A.), Martha Blakency Hodges (Mrs. Luther), Marjorie Mendenhall, Dr. Mary Poteat, Marie Cranford Carter (Mrs. W. L.), Anne Lee Stafford Greenfield (Mrs. Kenneth), Margaret Gilbert, Vaughn White Holoman (Mrs. Henry D.).

Vol. XXVIII

JULY, 1939

No. 1

CONTENTS

	PAGE
ECHOES FROM ALUMNAL DAY	1
GREETINGS FROM THE ALUMNAE PRESIDENT	1
ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT FRANK P. GRAHAM	6
PRESENTATION OF PORTRAIT OF DLAN W. C. JACKSON	7
RECENT GIFTS TO ALUMNAE HOUSE	7
NEW OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS	7
THE FAMILY TREE	8
JUDGE FLORENCE ELLINWOOD ALLEN	8
YOUTH—(POEM) Julia Blauvelt McGrane '26	8
THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE KINDERGARTEN Engenna Hunter	9
DELEGATES ELECTED TO REPRESENT CLASS OF 1939 AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY	10
CLASS REUNIONS	10
REPORTS OF ALUMNAE CLUBS	13
NEWS FROM THE ALUMNAL	14
MARRIED	22
NECROLOGY	24

Patronize Our Advertisers

	Page
Union Bus Station	16
Montaldo's—Ladies' Wear	17
Columbia Laundry	17
King Cotton Hotel	17
The Book Shop	17
Geo. W. Kane	17
Brooks-Wilson Co.—Ladies' Apparel	18
Kay Jewelry Company	18
Franklin Studio—Photography	18
Betty Lou Shop	19
O. Henry Hotel	19
Blue Bird Taxi	19
Greensboro Nebi Bottling Co.—Royal Crown Cola	20
Schiffman's—Jewelers	21
Sancton & Dickerson—Jewelers and Optometrists	22
E. A. Woodell—Printing	22
Mangle's—Ladies' Wear	22
Oscar Burnett & Co.—Investments	22
Jos. J. Stone & Co.—Printing	22
Pollock's—Shoes	23
Odell Hardware Company	23
Ellis, Stone & Co.—Ladies' Wear	23
Fields—Ladies' Wear	23
Phil E. Carlton, Inc.—Real Estate, Insurance, etc.	24
The Grill—Eats	24
Seburn's, Inc.—Jewelers	24
Dick's Laundry	24
Dragon Shoes—Ladies' Wear	24
Lady Fair Shop	24
Bell's Department Store	25
Coca-Cola Bottling Co.	25
Brownhill's—Ladies' Wear	Back Cover
Mock, Judson, Voehringer—Hostery	Back Cover

Echoes from Alumnae Day

Alumnae Day dawned in sunshine. But there were clouds as the day progressed, and umbrellas, and anxious queries as to whether Class Day could be held out of doors. (It was.) And so we gave the weather man a fairly good grade, though he didn't make Phi Beta Kappa. It is quite important—the weather!

The first event of Commencement was the Faculty-Alumnae "At Home" held in Alumnae House on Friday evening. The College Social Committee was in charge and dispensed cooling punch from the lace-covered Queen Anne table. A feature of this occasion was the display of the book, "Early Days of the College," compiled by Dr. Dixie Lee Bryant—her gift to Alumnae House. The book, placed in the Alumnae House Library, was presided over by Miss Annie Petty, who, together with Miss Jamison, had given much help to Dr. Bryant. It was the center of admiring and interested groups during the entire evening. Yes—the floods descended, but a goodly number of returning alumnae and their former teachers met and mingled in a spirit of gaiety and reminiscence.

A scant two miles away, at the Greensboro Country Club, the Senior Ball took up the evening's entertainment where our "At Home" left off. This was their last dance together. But they were hours of joyous remembrance.

Vaughn White Holoman, President of the Alumnae Association, called the assembly to order in Students' Building at eleven o'clock on Saturday morning. Meredith Riggsbee, cornetist, accompanied by Sara Pardo, members of the College Band, wearing gold and white uniforms, played Choral and Variations by Delmas, as the 100 delegates elected by the Class of 1939 marched in. They were accompanied by Margaret Gilbert, new member of the Board of Trustees, and presented by her for membership in the Association. With appropriate words of appreciation, Sarah Virginia Dunlap, President, responded to the election of the class into membership. The 1939 cheerleader led us all in singing the College Song.

Mrs. Holoman explained that this year the Senior Class was so large, and our time in which to receive them so limited, that the class had elected delegates instead of attending as a whole. She welcomed them cordially as representing the largest, and she hoped, the best class in the history of the College. She welcomed also the visiting alumnae, and gave a brief account of her stewardship as president during the past year. It had been a happy year, she told us, full of interesting activities.

Dean Jackson Talks

Our President next presented Dr. Jackson, Dean of Administration, who spoke with enthusiasm upon the "state of the nation"—meaning the Woman's College, first garnering a harvest of smiles when he addressed the Seniors as "Alumnae." The most important part of the College, he told us, is the student body, although they think that the most important part is the faculty! We couldn't get along without students, and sometimes we can't get along very well with them!

He stressed the effort that the College is making to bring together a faculty who will meet all the high standards that we propose to have here. Our students are admitted to the best universities throughout the United States without any restrictions whatever, and they make excellent records wherever they go for graduate work. "Our academic reputation is high," said Dean Jackson, "and that

Greetings from the Alumnae President

MRS. R. S. FERGUSON
(Sue Ramsey Johnston)
President of the Alumnae Association

Dear Fellow Alumnae:

My first duty as your President will be to learn all I can about the College of today. We remember much of the College as it was when we were students, but to be of greatest service to our Alma Mater we must know present programs, activities, and problems.

Such questions as these: "How is the College expanding physically? What is being done to develop academic and cultural aspects? How will the Fiftieth Anniversary be celebrated? What provisions are made for scholarships, fellowships, student loan funds?" can be answered better after a visit to the College.

In taking as our objective for the year familiarizing ourselves with our College, we hope to unite all alumnae in furthering the interests of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Won't you join with your new officers in this program of becoming re-acquainted with the College?

Loyally yours,

SUE RAMSEY JOHNSTON FERGUSON.

fact is a source of great gratification to us." He felt that the faculty and students were of one mind as to what we should do to build a great college for women. He spoke of the building program—the Science Building, the new dining hall, the two new dormitories, the renovation of the north wing of Spencer. He expressed the sorrow that the College and Alumnae feel in the loss by death during the year of Miss Etta Spier and Mrs. Elizabeth Melver Weatherspoon, both members of the faculty who had been students the first year of the college. He sincerely thanked the alumnae for the support they had given to the University and College authorities in the struggle to secure appropriations during the last legislature. "The service that you rendered was not so much that you assisted in securing a sum of money, but—and this is more important—that you were ready and willing to aid, and that the people of the State understood this." The legislature increased tuition for out-of-state students $75.00, making the total charge for such students $175.00. The legislature also required that the College raise from increased tuition during the next biennium approximately $22,500.00. To do this it will be necessary to accept about three hundred students from other states. The status of the Commercial Department remains the same, he said. In conclusion, Dean Jackson hoped that the new buildings would be ready for occupancy by the opening of school in the fall.

Report of the Alumnae Secretary

Mrs. Holoman then presented Clara B. Byrd, Alumnae Secretary, who made the annual report—twelve "easy and well-graded lessons," which suggested briefly the work centering around Publications, Changing Addresses, Local Clubs, Special Events, Seminars, Form Letters and other Printed Materials, General Correspondence, Field Work, Committee Meetings, Research, Alumnae Day and Class Reunions—not to mention the hospitality extended to faculty, alumnae, students, and friends, through the facilities of Alumnae House. At the conclusion of her report, the Secretary said she had an addenda, a postscript—after all, the most important part of the report. She wished to present the members of the Class of 1939 who were heads of student organizations which had headquarters and offices in the Alumnae House. She was sure we would be interested in anything they might wish to say. In turn she introduced:

EMILY HARRIS, President of the Student Government Association, who said:

Four years ago the Class of 1939 became a vital part of the Woman's College campus—we hope. As the weeks passed, we began to take part in the various organizations on the campus, and we loved doing everything we did for Woman's College. At that time, however, headquarters for the Student Government Association were situated on the second floor of the Music Building. What a hike it was from the dormitories! Why—then it was almost compulsory that those who took an active part in this phase of student life should be physical education majors—with all those Marathon races ahead of them! And there are those of us who can remember when Student Government headquarters were little more than a "hole in the ground" in the basement of Spencer.

EMILY HARRIS

But thanks to the Alumnae Association of our College, for the past three years the Student Government Association has had wonderful headquarters on the garden floor of the home of our alumnae on the campus. We really are the envy of all the visiting groups of students from other colleges. Now we can have people interested in the Student Government Association, and working in it, who are just plain ordinary folks! With such an ideal location and with such comfortable and attractive rooms as we have in Alumnae House, student activity and enthusiasm have increased one hundred per cent!

We are mighty proud of our offices. And we are mighty proud of the people who have made it possible for us to have a convenient and beautiful place in which to work.

We are looking forward to being a part of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina—the organization which continually makes unselfish sacrifices in order to do many things for our campus: the organization which will always keep us in close touch with one place in the world which will forever be near and dear to each of us—our Alma Mater.

For the Class of 1939, and for those who succeed us in the Student Government Association, I thank you again, Alumnae, for the generosity and hospitality of your House!

MAXINE GARNER, editor of The Carolinian, student weekly newspaper:

The Alumnae of this College have provided for us quarters of which we are truly proud. In attempting to express to you, on behalf of the Carolinian staff, the appreciation we feel for our splendid office in Alumnae House, I am hoping that those of you who have been kind enough to visit us there will not remember its disorderly state. A newspaper office, you know, must have its atmosphere!

Whatever Alumnae House means to you, it means the Carolinian Office to more than one hundred girls on the campus who are connected with the paper. We do not say, "We are going to the newspaper office," but "we are going to Alumnae House." To some the House may mean "the College parlor," but to us it means a place where we can do our best work.

MAXINE GARNER

While you are here, we hope you will get a copy of the 1939 special edition of the newspaper. They are to be found in the office.

Again, for all the members of the Carolinian staff. I thank you sincerely.

HELEN DENNIS, editor of Pine Needles:

It is a real privilege to have this opportunity to express to the Alumnae Association, on behalf of the Pine Needles staff, our deep appreciation for the lovely office which you made possible for our use. Those of you who were familiar with our old quarters in the basement of Kirkland Hall, and have seen our new home in Alumnae House, can imagine in some degree how grateful we really are to you. Its convenience, size, and equipment have made possible numerous meetings which we could not otherwise have had, and has enabled us to do better work more efficiently and happily.

HELEN DENNIS

We trust that through our future service we may give you further evidence of the appreciation we feel for what the Alumnae Association has done for us.

ELIZABETH BROWN, editor of Cor-addi, student literary magazine, was to have spoken also, but she was called home at the last minute and was therefore unable to be present.

Committee Reports

The presiding officer called for one-and-a-half minute reports from the following committees:

Auditing Committee, Fannie Starr Mitchell Sellars, Chairman, who reported that her committee had examined the books of the Association and found them entirely correct.

Committee on Appreciation of Miss Coit and Miss Jamison, Mrs. R. Murphy Williams, Chairman, who reported that she and the other members of her committee, Marion Stevens Hood and Emma Sharpe Avery, had recommended to the Alumnae Board of Trustees that the dormitories called East and West be named Coit and Jamison Halls; that the Alumnae Board of Trustees had approved this suggestion, and had referred it by resolution to the University Board of Trustees, which had taken final and affirmative action on the request. Mrs. Williams also read this letter from Miss Jamison:

Dear Alumnae:

Words are inadequate to express my deep appreciation for the recognition you have given in naming the building as a memorial to my life and work. My days have been gladly and happily spent in working with and for the young women of the State. If I have been able to render any service to the College, it has been a work of love and appreciation for those whose inspiration and influence have made it possible for me to serve humanity at this strategic point.

It is my earnest hope that I shall yet be able to offer a more acceptable service to the people of the State of North Carolina for making it possible for women, without means, to have a chance to develop their talents and thus serve their day and generation more worthily.

With deepest gratitude, I am

Cordially yours,

MINNIE L. JAMISON.

The Alumnae House Building Committee (the report this year was a list of gifts made to the House since Commencement 1938), by Martha Blake-ney Hodges. These gifts and the names of their donors have been published in preceding numbers of the Alumnae News.

The Alumnae Committee on the Fiftieth Anniversary of the College (the Five-Year Plan), Hattie S. Parrott, Chairman, who spoke briefly of the meetings of the committee which have already been held. No definite plans were yet ready to be announced, but she especially requested suggestions.

The Alumnae House Committee, by Annie M. Cherry, who stated that with the addition of necessary furnishings and equipment, the Alumnae House had been used in its entirety this year, and that all the purposes for which it was constructed had been served.

With time shortening, Mrs. Holoman expressed her appreciation to the following committees for their excellent work: the Committee on the Founder's Day Program for Local Clubs, Evelyn Hoyle Ripple, Chairman; the Committee on the Seminar, Rosa Blakeney Parker, Chairman; the Committee on Hospitality in the Dormitories, Anne Fulton Carter, Chairman.

In the absence of Julia Montgomery Street, Mrs. Holoman asked Carrie Tabor Stevens, member of the Alumnae Board of Trustees, to announce the result of the ballot for new officers:

President: Sue Ramsey Johnston Ferguson (Mrs. R. S.) '18, Taylorsville.

Vice President: Julia Watson Maulden (Mrs. Paul) '33, Kannapolis.

Members of the Board of Trustees: Marie Cranford Carter (Mrs. W. L.), Class of 1917, Greensboro; Margaret Gilbert '27, Raleigh; Annie Lee Stafford Greenfield (Mrs. Kenneth) '19, Kernersville.

Auditing Committee: Agnes Cannady Cashwell (Mrs. D. H.) '22, Greensboro; Eleanor Vanneman Benson (Mrs. C. H.) '26, Greensboro; Elizabeth Buhmann '36, Greensboro.

Upon motion of Lillian Massey, member of the Alumnae Board of Trustees, a rising vote of appreciation was extended to Mrs. Holoman for the fine service she had rendered as president of the Association during the past year.

The assembly then left Students' Building and gathered in the Reception Hall of Alumnae House, for the presentation of the portrait of Dr. Julius I. Foust, gift to the House of the Class of 1935.

Presentation of Portrait of Dr. Foust

Alumnae, members of Dr. Foust's family, members of the faculty, students, and friends from Greensboro assembled in the Reception Hall of Alumnae House at twelve o'clock on Alumnae Day for the presentation exercises. Mrs. Holoman, President of the Alumnae Association, presided, and said:

It is always a great occasion when the good works of any man or woman are recognized and appreciated. There is something in us all, as human beings, which approves when honor is given where honor is due. We are particularly glad to come together this morning to honor Dr. Foust, and in so doing to honor ourselves as well.

From the beginning of his long career among us to his closing years as head of this College, the Alumnae are represented on this brief program. In a way then, this is an historic occasion.

It was my pleasure and privilege to have been one of his students, and to have known him during the first years of his work here. I look back upon those years with something akin to reverence, and with an appreciation I do not yet know how fully to express.

But I feel that this occasion belongs particularly at this moment to the members of a class who were students here in very recent years. It is my pleasure, therefore, to introduce to you Miss Margaret Moser, Everlasting President of the Class of 1935, the class which made this occasion possible.

Margaret Moser, Everlasting President of the Class of 1935, in gracious phrase, presented the portrait on behalf of her classmates. Since Dr. Foust was not present, she read an extract from a letter which she had recently received from him:

I cannot express to you how deeply grateful I feel for this thought of me by the members of your class. No one can know the burden I carried in my attempt to make your College a standard institution unless he had been in the midst of the struggles and fight. But I could always count on the alumnae and students to aid me in my efforts. This fact was an abundant and never-failing source of inspiration and encouragement, and gave me strength to win finally for your College the recognition it now has in the educational world. No one could have had greater joy in serving the young women of the State than I experienced during my long service for your institution. It was a rare privilege for any man to serve the young women of North Carolina during this transition period. My heart is simply full of gratitude for all the kindnesses that have been shown me by the students and the alumnae. I feel most grateful, and I wish to take this means of thanking you and all who aided me in my work.

May Lovelace Tomlinson, Chairman of the House Building Committee, "joyfully accepted" the portrait, saying that it would be hung permanently over the mantle in the House library. She also expressed to the Class of 1935 the appreciation of the Alumnae Board of Trustees, the Alumnae House Building Committee, and the alumnae at large for bringing into fulfillment a great wish of them all.

Helen Dugan, President of the Student Government Association in her senior year, and Everlasting Secretary of the Class of 1935, in paying tribute on behalf of her Class said among other things:

Every college girl carries away with her degree the memory of a few outstanding personalities among the students and faculty—people who, because of their intellectual achievement, the magnanimity of their character, or the influence of their leadership, have won the respect and affection of their associates and have made the college better.

Since the spring of 1902 girls have been leaving this College with the name of Dr. Foust among those to be remembered—not for one of the usual reasons, but for all three. His trusted leadership, his fine character, and his high intellect endeared him to all.

To every girl who has been a student at this College, to the people of North Carolina, to the cause of education, the name of Dr. J. I. Foust will always mean generous service, well rendered, to raise the average of humanity.

Sadie McBrayer McCain, speaking for the alumnae at large, in the six minutes allotted to her sketched in broad, though graphic outline, the story of Dr. Foust's thirty-two years of service here. As evidence of the material expansion of the institution, she said that when he became head of the College, the buildings on the campus numbered nine, with Students' Building only partly completed; there was a student body of 461, and an annual appropriation of $40,000. "Contrast these figures with those of 1931—three years before his resignation: 43 buildings—an increase of 34, with many of the old ones repaired; a student body of 1761—an increase of 1300; and an annual appropriation of $340,000—all this in a year of depression."

Mrs. McCain spoke of the fourteen sessions of the General Assembly with which he had worked, whose members he had had to convince that the College deserved their support—a stupendous undertaking even in 1939, as our present leaders well understand. She meant no reflection upon the legislators themselves. Instead, she placed the responsibility for the difficulty in securing appropriations upon a limited state treasury and a still sadly lacking education-consciousness among our own people. "He not only pleaded for money and preached education—not merely for women but for all our people, but he had to combat the attitude that the State should do no more for its young women in the way of higher education than to maintain for them a two-year normal school. It is here that some educators place his greatest accomplishment—carrying on the fight until our College was secure in its place as a Liberal Arts College, with professional opportunities. Without such unyielding effort on his part, the loyalty of his faculty, and the support of a few strong friends, there would be here now only a mediocre two-year normal school instead of this excellent college for women with its high academic standing."

Mrs. McCain gave other glimpses into crucial hours in the life of the College. Think of the result, for instance, if the railroad had not been kept from building its new station where Curry School and the power plant now stand. In conclusion, she was happy that this portrait will hang in Alumnae House, so that "our children—even if all of us present today have passed on—may see it, and say, as we do today, 'Here is one of North Carolina's greatest sons!'"

Sarah Power Armstrong, daughter of Mary Foust Armstrong '20, drew the cord which revealed the likeness.

Henry M. Rood, Jr., the artist, received many congratulations for his excellent portraiture. Margaret Moser, in her presentation speech, expressed the appreciation of her class to Frances White '27, wife of the artist, whose generosity aided greatly in making the portrait possible.

Luncheons

Luncheons, without programs, followed in South and West Dining Halls. In South, Mrs. Holoman did the honors. President and Mrs. Graham, alumnae and student officials were seated at the head table. In West, Ruth Chindar '29, Executive Red Cross Secretary, Greensboro, presided, in the absence due to an automobile accident of the Vice President of the Association, Annie Lee Stafford Greenfield.

The Concert

Under the auspices of the Class of 1929, one of the most enjoyable features of Alumnae Day was the concert given at half-past three by members of the School of Music in the reception hall of the House. Virginia Kirkpatrick, everlasting president, Charlotte, did the honors and introduced the performers individually to the audience: Dean H. Hugh Altvater, violin; Paul B. Oncley, viola; George Henry, 'cello; George Dickieson, violin; Alma Lissow Oncley, piano. Guests were received at the door by Virginia Kirkpatrick and Frances Mauney Lohr, Charlotte; Sara Katherine Hampton, Leaksville; Era Linker Funderburke, Concord; Ruth Clinard and Louise Dannenbaum Falk, Greensboro.

Mr. Oncley, accompanied by Mrs.

Oncley, opened the program with a group of baritone numbers which were enored generously. The quintet rendered with great charm the beautiful work of Dohnanyi, "Quintet, C minor." The string quartet (plus the piano on this occasion) is the most recent musical organization on the campus. It has appeared only a few times in public, and the alumnae may well consider themselves a "preferred audience" on this occasion. We extend to Dean Altvater and every member of this group sincere appreciation.

Class Day

Class Day was, as usual, a colorful pageant of beautiful dresses. As usual, it was held on front campus, the program being featured by talks from the following members of the class: Maxine Garner, Muriel Fairbanks, Helen Player, Margaret Hill, and Helen Weitzel. The class gift was announced by the president as a sum of money, part of which is to be added to the Sarah Atkinson Loan Fund, and the remainder to be used for planting Japanese cherry trees along College Avenue.

The Play

"Craig's Wife," George Kelly's comedy, was presented on Saturday evening, in Aycock Auditorium, complimentary to the Alumnae and commencement guests. It was given on this same occasion eleven years ago, when DeAlva Stewart Heineman '28 played the leading role. This year Leah Smirnow '39 starred. To Mr. Taylor, director of the Play-Likers, and his cast, we are deeply grateful for another excellent Commencement play.

NEW SCIENCE BUILDING

Now being constructed

Located on the old hockey field opposite Spencer Hall. Will house the departments of biology, chemistry, physics, astronomy. To be opened for use in the fall.

ADDRESS

of President Frank P. Graham

Delivered in Aycock Auditorium on Commencement Day, June 5th

Within the score of the years of your lifetime are compressed the consequences of a world war and a world economic depression. The world war and the world depression are the focus of a world transition.

There have been great transitions before. Though we are always in the midst of transitions, there are certain great transitions that stand out in the perspective of history. The first historic European transition, from the ancient to the mediaeval period, and the second great transition, from the mediaeval to the modern period, were processes of generations and slow centuries rather than of quick decades and a single life. General adjustments were made to slow changes. Social drift did not then, as now, mean swift and wide social tragedy.

The third historic transition, which had its origin in Western Europe, came with the great industrial revolution. Many influences converged upon the philosophy of laissez faire set the Western European stake upon which came unannounced and uncontrolled the steam engine with its revolutionary power. The steam engine made the world a swiftly and widely dynamic world. The power engine was the mechanical and social motive force whose cumulative power has given the mighty pulse to a hundred years. Upon the piston of the power engine has turned the structure of our modern world.

Into the midst of this modern dynamic industrial world came the world war and the world depression. The gigantic destruction of 1914-1918, the Russian Revolution with its fallacies, hates, hopes, and failures; the theory of Einstein, which revolutionized the conception of the universe from a universe of fixed reference frames to a universe of relativity, the chemical theory of the atom as the ultimate bit of matter breaking down in a whirl of electrons, with all their repercussions in philosophy and life; the wider uses of the internal combustion engines upon the roads, the seas, and in the air; the swiftly expanding uses of electrical energy embracing the remotest home and all the continents; the jazz tempo and its deep moral disillusionment; the dizzy prosperity, the sudden economic breakdown, and the cruel dictatorships, are influences which have made their marks upon this generation in deep and unconscious ways. The world war and the world depression have accumulated such deep moving forces as to be the focus of an undetermined transition of swift and wide significance to mankind.

PRESIDENT FRANK P. GRAHAM

The great transitions from the ancient to the mediaeval, to the modern age, or, if you please, from Roman imperialism to mediaeval feudalism to modern capitalism, have been regional in their processes and slow in their world influences. These transitions have involved sections of a continent and with slow time international and intercontinental relations and arrangements. But today there can be no great event or movement that does not almost immediately affect the whole world. Concrete highways, steel rails, oil pipe lines, ocean lanes, copper wires overland and underseas, and ethereal wave lengths connect farms and factories, villages and cities, islands and continents and people everywhere. You cannot touch the world anywhere today without touching the world everywhere. When a war comes it is potentially a world war. When a depression comes it is potentially a world depression. The vast and dynamic mechanical framework now flung around the earth gathers up wars and depressions anywhere and implicates men everywhere. Steam engines, gas and oil engines, and turbo-generators pump the power gathered from coal mines, oil wells, the melting mountains and the running hills into a vast industrial structure of production, transportation, and communication with its power to advance or destroy our present civilization. Either we are to master our great industrial civilization or be destroyed in its unregulated self-destruction.

We who in our scientific pride think that we have mastered the earth stand baffled in the midst of these two mighty foes of every locality and all mankind. The very fact of recurring wars and depressions raises a question as to the quality of our education and the sincerity of our religion. The people in a world in which such wars and depressions can occur are not yet intelligent and spiritual in the control of their institutions. More world wars and depressions might mean the end of our civilization.

The stakes are too great and catastrophic developments are too swift for the universities to stand aside or to wait upon the centuries for their drift or upon traditions for their course or vested interests for their cue. In the face of a socially haphazard industrialism, or revolutions and dictatorships, wars and depressions, we must, through our colleges and universities, learn to have open and experimental minds, to seek the truth, and to be true to our basic Americanism of liberty and democracy, and set up social controls in behalf of the freedom of the human mind and in behalf of equality of opportunity for all people.

Which way 1939? May the wide miseries and high opportunities of this hour place vividly upon you the moral obligations to be not only individually but also socially and cooperatively open-minded and intelligent in the midst of our great transition. Wars and depressions call for a social imagination. Economic drift calls for a social mastery. Human miseries call for social heroism. The call of a great adventure is to the social intelligence and spiritual heroism of the youth of this generation.

What the humanist scholars meant intellectually with their revival of an ancient learning which became the ferment of Renaissance times, what the natural scientists with mechanically experimental minds did in laying out the technological framework of our modern industrial society, suggest something of what the college women and men with the socially experimental minds can mean humanly during our times in changing the world from a place where hungry men and women ask for a chance to earn their daily bread to a place where men and women can work happily and dream dreams for their children.

In June, 1914, a pistol shot of a Slavic youth in a remote village in Bosnia-Herzegovina went on the wires of the world. Those were the wires of the uncontrolled high potential, wires of wars and depressions. In four years two million American boys had crossed an ocean and ten million of the fighting men of five continents were killed on the battlefields of the world. In June, 1939, this youthful and gallant company, with their social imagination and spiritual insights, go on the wires of the world, wires that are seen, and wires that are unseen, wires of high potential for the reconstruction of our civilization.

You may not have a job tomorrow, but yours is the big job and the high adventure of a generation. The American pioneers who stood with axes and rifles along the fringe of an un conquered wilderness never faced an adventure more thrilling than that which calls to you as you stand with diplomas in hand, with open and inquiring minds, and with high hearts along the frontiers of the vast possibilities of our yet unmastered civilization. Strong and clean be your bodies, eager and open be your minds, deep and spiritual your faith, is the wish of Alma Mater as you blaze the new trails for a new hope, a nobler America, and a fairer world.

Presentation of Portrait of Dean W. C. Jackson

By MILDRED MASHBURN '38

On Saturday afternoon, June 3, the Class of 1938 presented to the College in a simple ceremony in the College Library their gift, a portrait of Dr. W. C. Jackson, Dean of Administration. Those taking part were Mrs. Julius Cone, Lucy Spinks, and Ruth Gillmore.

Lucy, in presenting the portrait for the class, spoke of the particular tie which the class feels for Dr. Jackson, due to the fact that he became Dean of Administration the year they entered college. She pictured him as a great teacher, distinguished not only through his own accomplishments in the profession, but through the accomplishments of students whose horizons were broadened under his tutelage; as a great administrator, whose breadth of vision has given the college renown as an institution of exceptional educational opportunity; and as the real friend of all who have been fortunate enough to attend the College during his residence there.

Ruth Gillmore, President of the Student Body, accepted the portrait for the College, telling what it means to the students to have a Dean of Administration who has constantly maintained the confidence of students in his fairmindedness and understanding.

Eloquent tribute was paid to Dr. Jackson by Mrs. Laura Weill Cone, who painted a picture in words of what he is, what he has done, and what he has meant to the College. She pointed out that Dr. Jackson belongs peculiarly to Woman's College and that the force of his character and personality are indelibly stamped there.

The portrait is the work of Miss Alice Kent Stoddard, Philadelphia. It is hanging in the entrance hall of the Library as evidence of the everlasting esteem in which Dr. Jackson is held by the Class of 1938.

Presenting the New Officers and the New Members of the Board of Trustees

President: Sue Ramsey Johnston Ferguson (Mrs. R. S.) '18, Taylorsville.

Vice President: Julia Watson Maulden (Mrs. Paul) '33, Kannapolis.

Members of the Board of Trustees: Marie Cranford Carter (Mrs. W. F.), Class of 1917, Greensboro; Annie Lee Stafford Greenfield (Mrs. Kenneth) '19, Kernersville; Margaret Gilbert '27, Raleigh.

Auditing Committee: Agnes Cannady Cashwell (Mrs. D. H.) '22, Greensboro; Eleanor Vanneman Benson (Mrs. C. H.) '26, Greensboro; Elizabeth Buhmann '36, Greensboro.

Recent Gifts to Alumnae House

Oil portrait of Dr. Julius I. Foust. Gift of the Class of 1935.

Early Days of the College. A large book, beautifully bound in leather, containing pictures, well-mounted, of personages and scenes connected with the early days of the College. Gift of Dr. Dixie Lee Bryant, Asheville.

Large wooden tray, the work of native craftsmen in the Canal Zone. Gift of alumnae now living there: Adelaide Van Noppen Howard, Phyllis Spencer, Edith Caldwell Williams, Nancy Johnston Hatchett, Hallie Beavers, Bessie Bell Irvin, Nita Bell Hartman, Mae Bell Cross. The names of the donors are burned on the back of the tray.

Cash gift of Class of 1926, by Eleanor Vanneman Benson.

Bibliography of O. Henry. Gift of Caro M. Green Russell, Chapel Hill.

A Note About Pine Needles

Any alumna who would like to have a copy or copies of the following editions of Pine Needles, may have one by communicating with the Business Manager of the 1939 Pine Needles, Frances Crockett, at W. C. U. N. C., Greensboro, North Carolina. The annuals sell for $1 per copy.

1921, 5 copies; 1932, 6 copies; 1931, 13 copies; 1933, 32 copies; 1936, 24 copies; 1937, 40 copies.

THE FAMILY TREE

Our College Granddaughters

Last year 151 students were daughters of women who are alumnae of this college. What about their fathers? They are to be found in a wide range of occupations. Farmers and salesmen tie, with 14 each. Lawyers come next, with 12, producing another tie with merchants, 12. There are 9 physicians, 6 tobacconists, 5 insurance men, 5 dairymen, 3 dentists, 3 lumber dealers, 3 ministers, 3 teachers, 2 superintendents of city schools, 2 druggists, 1 bank president, 1 manufacturer. Almost every other imaginable occupation is represented: railroad engineer, optometrist, postmaster, newspaper man, tax collector, hotel operator, county farm agent, plumbing and heating contractor, city manager, missionary, sales manager, court reporter, and on and on.

Of these 151 granddaughters, 30 were members of the 1939 graduating class:

Alice D. Blades, New Bern — Emma (Duffy) Blades '05.
 Helen Bolling, High Point — Bess (Cashwell) Bolling ex-'14.
 Margaret Hamilton Bullock, Red Springs — Beatrice (McEachern) Bullock ex-'02.
 *Louise Darden, Wilson — Esther (Yelverton) Darden ex-'14.
 †Helen A. Dennis, Marshall — Lura (Duckett) Dennis ex-'17.
 Carolyn Dukes, Lumberton — Georgia (McMillan) Dukes ex-'19.
 Virginia Foy, Mount Airy — Mabel (Absher) Foy ex-'11.
 Julia Bright Godwin, Dunn — Nettie (Rudisill) Godwin '08.
 Sarah Elizabeth Gray, Guilford College — Berta (Hodgin) Gray ex-'05.
 Evelyn Christabelle Hall, Durham — Berta (Glenn) Hall ex-'16.
 Mabel H. Hargett, High Point — Mabel (Hoover) Hargett ex-'13.
 ‡Emily Harris, Greensboro — Janice (Montgomery) Harris ex-'98.
 Elinor S. Henderson, Hickory — Moffitte (Sinclair) Henderson ex-'14.
 Margaret Holland, Clayton — Margaret (John) Holland '10.

Florence C. Hunt, Greensboro — Mary (Campbell) Hunt ex-'13.
 Bobbie Jean Love, Asheville — Rosalie (Smith) Love ex-'19.
 Claudia Mosley, Kinston — Blanche (Harper) Mosley '96.
 Alice B. Murdoch, Salisbury — Josephine (Speight) Murdoch, ex-'06.
 Kate K. Niblock, Concord — Zeta (Caldwell) Niblock ex-'06.
 ††Mamie Patrick, Durham — Elithe (Uzzell) Patrick ex-'17.
 Bertie S. Patterson, Albemarle — Mary (Snuggs) Patterson ex-'06.
 Helen Alexander Player, Morganton — Elizabeth (Ferrell) Player ex-'02.
 Mary Elizabeth Purvis, Salisbury — Belle (Hicks) Purvis '10.
 Mary Helen Ross, Elmwood — Rosa Ellen (Holt) Ross '98.
 Julia Bishop Smallwood, New Bern — Lou (Nixon) Smallwood ex-'19.
 Elizabeth W. Smith, New Bern — Betty (Wright) Smith '99.
 Flora Steele, Wagram — Maude (Harris) Steele ex-'10.
 ††Sophie E. Taplin, High Point — Ruth (Bacon) Taplin com-'10.
 Susannah H. Thomas, Wadesboro — Lucy (Hawkins) Thomas '07.
 Katherine E. Thomason, Roanoke Rapids — Lena (Thomas) Thomason ex-'10.
 * Marshal.
 † Editor of Pine Needles.
 †† President of Student Government Association.
  Chief Marshal.
 ††† Phi Beta Kappa.

Judge Florence Ellinwood Allen

Awarded the First Honorary Degree — the Degree of Doctor of Laws — to be Conferred by Woman's College

For the first time in its history, our College has granted an honorary degree, and granted it to a woman — Judge Florence E. Allen, Cleveland, Ohio. In presenting Judge Allen for this degree, Dean Jackson spoke of the solicitude of the faculty in making this first selection to set a precedent high and undisputed — one that would meet with universal approval. "This we have done," he concluded.

In response, President Graham made the citation in these words:

Florence Ellinwood Allen, A.B. and M.A. Western Reserve University, L.L.B. New York University, Phi Beta Kappa; musician, teacher, linguist, journalist; lawyer and jurist, first woman county prosecutor of Cleveland, O., judge of the Court of Common Pleas; by the vote of the people, justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, the first woman ever to sit on a court of last resort; by appointment of the President of the United States, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, the first woman to sit on this next to the highest American court; writer of judicial opinions of far-reaching economic and social implications; leader for decades in the woman's movement, and long champion of international organization and world peace. Physical vigor, intellectual zest and insight, a modest charm and the dignity of a rich human spirit gave both sweetness and strength to her position as the most distinguished woman lawyer in the world.

By vote of the faculty and trustees, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina confers upon you the degree of doctor of laws.

YOUTH

By JULIA BLAUVELT McGRANE '26

*Because I have a passion
 For calling things by name,
 "Oh, you are Love!" I said to her
 The moment that she came.*

*How could I be mistaken
 Who heard her dancing feet,
 Who saw her happy glances,
 Her ways so wild and sweet?*

*She laughed her merry laughter
 And said, "You do me wrong,
 For love's a patient keep-the-beartb
 Who has no time for song.*

*"She spends her time in cleaning
 And mending all the day,
 And when she walks abroad at all,
 She walks another's way.*

*"We bear a slight resemblance,
 But if you want the truth,
 When people know me better,
 They say my name is Youth."*

—Reprinted from Woman's Home Companion.

The Woman's College Kindergarten

By EUGENIA HUNTER
Instructor in Charge

The kindergarten at Curry School of Woman's College, created at the request of interested parents and friends, was opened in September, 1936. A nursery school had been conducted in connection with the Home Economics Department for a number of years, and need was felt for a kindergarten to fill the gap between the nursery school and the first grade. Moreover, the Education Department of the College was desirous to have a pre-school group in connection with the Training School.

The enrollment was limited to twenty children the first year, and it has never gone beyond twenty-two. We try to keep the proportion of boys to girls as equal as possible. Children are admitted at the age of five and stay for one year, unless it is thought advisable for a child to continue a second term. Children who have attended the nursery school at the College are given preference over other applicants. There are no district school boundaries for the kindergarten; however, we encourage the enrollment of children in our district. Registration for admittance is made a year or more in advance. At present a number of applications have already been made for the 1940 term. The fee is forty dollars for the year, or twenty dollars a semester.

In planning our work, we have tried to keep in mind the fact that development is an integrated process concerned with the physical, mental, social and emotional growth of the child. Education must take into account the interaction of these forces. Our curriculum, therefore, includes the social sciences, natural and physical sciences, creative arts, and informal experiences with the tool subjects.

In the field of the social sciences the children are given many experiences in social relationships. Excursions are taken to interesting places on the college campus, such as the kitchen, the dining halls, the post office, the science laboratories, and the library. Also, trips are planned to the large Greensboro Central Fire Station, a bakery, neighborhood stores, and other schools. Holidays and festivals are celebrated as a part of social living. Health and hygiene are stressed, and no child comes to school if he has a cold. The children's physical needs are provided for by a regular

HALLOWE'EN IN THE KINDERGARTEN
Miss Hunter in the background

rest period during the morning, a mid-morning fruit-juice lunch, and an out-of-door play period, using the apparatus on the playground.

We find that the children are tremendously interested in many kinds of concrete science experiences. We encourage them to bring their pets to school, and we try to have animals for them to care for every day in the kindergarten. Growing plants are also brought to school, and bulbs and seeds planted for the children's daily care and attention. The kindergarten museum shelves are filled with leaves, berries, seeds, cocoons, shells, rocks, and other interesting things brought by the children. Five-year-old children are beginning to have definite scientific interests. They enjoy experimenting with the sand glass, the magnet, and the magnifying glass. They want to read the thermometer and to learn to tell the time.

In the field of creative arts are included painting, drawing, and clay modeling; woodwork and block building; language and literature; music and dramatic play, and games. Our equipment includes two large easels, paper, crayons, scissors, clay, a carpenter's bench of correct height for five-year-old children, the large kindergarten floor blocks, the builderboards, a sand box, dolls and materials for housekeeping, wooden toys and wooden puzzles, a library corner, drums, a xylophone, the rhythm band instruments, a piano, a victrola, and the playground equipment consisting of swings, a slide, acting bars, a sand box, and a wagon. In all creative work in the kindergarten, emphasis is put on freedom of thought and expression, and the children are encouraged to express their ideas in art form. Miss Grace Van Dyke More, head of the Public School Music Department at the College, gives generously of her time to the children. Mr. Robert Skelton, of the College Art Department, comes to the kindergarten twice a week for art lessons.

Situations which give opportunity for reading, writing, and spelling interest arise in a variety of ways. We do not teach the children to read, but we do try to give them as much reading readiness as possible. They learn to recognize their names and to print them. They are interested in signs and learn to recognize a great many in the building and the neighborhood. They learn how to dictate letters and stories of their experiences. The teachers tell or read many interesting stories and discuss them with the children, thus increasing their fund of information and deepening and defining their concepts of relationships. Number and measure enter into many of the children's play activities.

Letters are sent to the parents at the end of each semester, giving information about the progress of the group. Conferences between the parents and the teacher occur frequently during the school year. All during the year fathers and mothers are welcome visitors in the kindergarten. The mothers visit frequently, occasionally spending the entire morning. Since many of the fathers bring the children to school or call for them, they too keep in close touch with what is going on. For the past two years there has been a study group of interested mothers of kindergarten children.

Individual records are kept of the children's history and development, and these are available for the use of the first grade teachers. We feel that this rich background of experiences will give the child a good foundation for first grade work and enable him to progress through school in a smoother, happier way. It is our ambition to see the kindergarten a part of the public school system in North Carolina, and eventually, we believe it will be.

Delegates Elected by the Class of 1939 to Represent the Class at the Alumnae General Assembly on Saturday Morning, June 3rd

Doris Adams, Ethel Altschuler, Ivo Jean Anthony, Gretchen Aycock.

Louise Beck, Katherine Bernhardt, Lucile Bethea, Alice Blades, Doris Hardt, Frances Boland, Helen Bolling, Helen Book, Edna Earl Bostick, Ethel Braxton, Mary Ruth Brewer, Josephine Brick, Mary Elizabeth Brown, Pauline Brownlee, Helen Bumgarner.

Jeanne Carey, Catherine Carpenter, Hazel Carson, Edna Cartwright, Christine Cauthen, Norma Cheatham, Jane Clegg, Mary Cochrane, Katherine Cooper, Elizabeth Cowherd, Geraldine Cox, Julia Cozzens, Mary Jane Crenshaw, Louise Crowell, Henrietta Currin.

Elna Daniels, Louise Darden, Rubyleigh Davis, Helen Dennis, Rachael Draughon, Carolyn Dukes, Sarah Dunlap, Selma Dunn, Jane Dupuy.

Virginia Edwards, Virginia Eggleston, Dorothy Elkins, Mary R. Epps.

Frances Fentress, Dorothy Ficker, Marion W. Fisher, Martha Eleanor Floyd, Virginia Foy, Frances Furr.

Maxine Garner, Anne Garrison, Miriam Gault, Julia Godwin, Sarah Gray, Jane Grier, Mary Francis Gyles.

Evelyn Hall, Ruth Hamilton, Mabel Hargett, Emily Harris, Bettie Harward, Reva Heidinger, Wilma Helsabeck, Elinor Henderson, Jeanette Hickman, Margaret Hill, Paula Hobgood, Margaret Holland, Irene Horn, Frances Horner, Mildred Howell, Florence Hunt, Kathryn Hardie, Doris Hutchinson.

Margaret Idol.

Mildred James, Mary Margaret Johnson, Sarah Jones, Margaret Jones, Phyllis Keister.

Eleanor Kerchner, York Kiker, Dorothy Kolman.

Edna Laws, Ruth Lee, Frances Levy, Edna Levine, Claudine Lewis, Attie Belle Liles, Adelaide Love, Bobbie Jean Love, Josephine Lowrance.

Christine McAdams, Dorothy McLawborn, Nancy McManaway, Lillian Mann, Elsie Marston, Myrtle Merritt, Grace Mewborn, Kathryn Mewborn, Charlotte Michlin, Virginia Miles, Louisa Millard, Bruce Miller, Rosalie Mitchell, Barbara Moon, Barbara Moore, Inez Moore, Claudia Moseley, Alice Mardoch, Elizabeth Myers.

Kate Niblock, Frankie Northcott, Louise Northcott.

Alma Ormond, Anna Catharine Owen, Mamie Patrick, Bertie Patterson, Isabel Pelton, Elizabeth Phillips, Jeanette Piatt, Helen Player, Irene Pospisil, Mary Elizabeth Parvis, Marjorie Pye.

Eather Anne Quinn.

Gertrude Rainey, Gloria Reagan, Kathryn Rettew, Caroline Jane Rigg, Jo Elaine Robertson, Ruth Rogers, Mary Helen Ross, Dorothy Roseland, Mary Willie Rotha.

Ruth Mirjam Severson, Grace Sharpe, Evelyn Shepherd, Myrtle Simpson, Julia Smallwood, Catherine Smith, Elizabeth W. Smith, Myra Smith, Pauline Smith, Sarah Smith, Hilda Snyder, Doris Spainhour, Emily Stanton, Flora Steele, Marie Stephens, Carroll Stoker, Gladys Strawn, Nell Sturkey, Olena Swain, Evelyn Swaringen.

Sophia Taplin, B. Elizabeth Taylor, Mary Elizabeth Taylor, Susannah Thomas, Katherine Thomason, Hester Tolar, Betty Trimble, Jane Traesdale, Dorothy Truitt, Annie Laurie Taberville, Anna Hughes Turner, Blanche Tuten, Floreine Tyndall.

Jane Umstead.

Hazel Walker, Agnes Warren, Eleanor Weeks, Betsey Wharton, Mary Carter Whitehurst, Sarah Whitney, Edith Winborne, Margaret Woodson, Martha Wright.

Geraline Young.

Jean Ziel.

CLASS REUNIONS

CLASS OF 1905

In the gracious setting of the home of Sarah Poole Cartland '21, the reunion supper of the Class of 1905 was held, with Ruth Fitzgerald acting as hostess, ably assisted by the local members of the class, Emma Sharpe Avery, May Hendrix Fleet, and Mary Wills McCulloch. We deeply felt the absence of one of our local classmates, Annie McIver Young, who could not be present because of a recent bereavement. The group recalled our last reunion held in Annie's beautiful home in Irving Park.

The following out of town members were present: Mary Davis Sewell, Emma Duffy Blades, Jennie Hackett Cranor, Edna Reinhardt Keith, Leila Stryon, and Kate Finley. It was a pleasure for the group to meet the husband, daughter, and young son of Emma Duffy Blades. Another of Emma's daughters was a member of the 1939 graduating class. Jennie Hackett Cranor's handsome son drove her down from Wilkesboro for the reunion supper. May Hendrix Fleet introduced her attractive young son and one of her lovely daughters. Kate Finley could have presented the entire high school of Rockingham, of which she is the capable and beloved principal. Mary Wills McCulloch did not tell us, but we saw that she was wearing her new Delta Kappa Gamma pin, she having been recently elected to that national honor society for teachers.

Emma Sharpe Avery could have presented as her "jewels" a fine daughter—a Woman's College junior, a banker son, two business men, and two handsome grandchildren. Instead she brought her mother, Mrs. B. C. Sharpe, to be our charming and beloved guest.

The class was proud of our successful business woman, Lelia Stryon, who was attending commencement not only as an alumna but as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University. It was agreed that probably Mary Davis Sewell was more like her youthful self than any of the rest. She too could boast of a son who is a successful business man.

Edna Reinhardt Keith extended an invitation to the entire class to have the next reunion at her hospitable home in Black Mountain. We got out our old class annual and did not forget those who were unable to be present. Edna is looking forward to having us all attend our next reunion at Black Mountain. Let's go!

Ruth Fitzgerald.

CLASS OF 1907

Our class enjoyed a reunion supper at the home of one of the members, Marjorie Kennedy White, in Greensboro, whose skill as a caterer won a blue ribbon on this occasion. Discussion centered around the educational situation in North Carolina, and we made plans to do as much as we could to improve such conditions in the state as better selection of teachers; better pay for experienced teachers; social security for teachers; revised usable curriculum in schools and colleges; more adult education to bring about greater understanding of the purposes of school work.

We expressed also our appreciation of the work our Alumnae Secretary is doing in holding together the alumnae of our College.

Mary Hyman, President.

CLASS OF 1914

Who said that a quarter of a century is a long time? It isn't so! At least, that's what the twenty-five 1914-ers who met for their twenty-fifth reunion decided. At first glimpse they may have given the impression of that many years of added ful new home in Brookwood, Burlington's lovely suburb. There they were served a delicious dinner by Iris, ever-lasting president of the class, and received from Anne (Watkins) Fonville and Nina Garner attractive souvenirs of small green vases filled with daisies.

During the evening the reuniting members finished answering questions about themselves and their homes and families, and read aloud the questionnaires sent in by many of those who found themselves unable to be present.

The following information was obtained concerning those present. (News notes concerning absentees will be included in the next issue of the Alumnae News.)

Maude Bunn Battle (Mrs. Kemp), mother of two attractive young daughters, is the same unselfish person she was in college. One of her chief interests is has for many years worked for Uncle Sam at the Greensboro post office. The whole crowd was impressed with how attractive and young-looking Hazel is, with her sparkling black eyes and beautiful white hair.

Anne Watkins Fonville (Mrs. D. R.), of Burlington, at present claims Girl Scouts as her chief hobby. This is quite easily understood by those who know her pretty little fifteen-year-old daughter, Margaret Melver.

Nina Garner has for quite a while taught first grade in Burlington. To quote from Nina's questionnaire, her additional study since graduation has been "How to make ladies and gentlemen of other women's children."

Ruth Gunter, second grade supervisor at the Training School of Woman's College, received her Master's degree from Columbia in 1930. Last summer she realized her life's dream of visiting numerous European countries. Ruth is now serving as local president of Delta Kappa Gamma, national organization of women in education.

Elizabeth Hall, who has done advanced study at Chapel Hill and Columbia University, is teaching at her home town of Belmont.

Esther Horn Hawkins (Mrs. J. F.), still living in Mocksville, is interested especially in politics and newspaper work. Esther has traveled extensively with her husband, and spends most of her winters in Florida.

Ethie Garrett Heine (Mrs. Frank R.) is the mother of one handsome boy, Frank, Jr., fifteen. She lives in Greensboro, and bestows her chief interest on her flowers.

Clara Johnson still lives in Greensboro, but teaches in Winston-Salem. It was good to see her again after all these years.

Louise Jones, a most successful teacher in Durham, is just as peppy and enthusiastic as she was in 1914.

Iris Holt McEwen (Mrs. J. H.), mother of James Henry, Jr., and Iris Holt, Jr., aged seventeen and ten years, considers antiques and gardening her favorite hobbies. Iris, Jr., has the same petite beauty which made her mother the pride of her class. Iris has visited many spots in this country, as well as Canada, Cuba, Bermuda and Nassau.

May McQueen MacPherson (Mrs. S. H.) lives on Hollywood Farm, Fayetteville where, according to her report, she keeps busy "rearing four daughters, aged 17, 15, 10 and 7 years." Sue Harden, the fifteen-year old daughter, won the most unusual distinction of making a perfect score on the test given this spring to all high school seniors of the state.

Mary Green, of Thomasville, is completing the library science course offered at Chapel Hill. She taught during the past year at Bath. Her son, Roger, attends the University of North Carolina.

CLASS REUNION OF 1914 — REUNION AT THE HOME OF IRIS HOLT McEWEN, PRESIDENT, IN BURLINGTON, N. C.

maturity; but after a day of chatter and giggling, of "do you remember?" and "what ever happened to?", it appeared that it was only a few yesterdays ago that they had scattered following graduation.

First of all the gang gathered in beautiful Alumnae House, attended alumnae meeting in a body, attired in white dresses with green and white 1914 arm-bands; was present at the unveiling of the portraits of Dr. Foust and Dr. Jackson; enjoyed the lovely alumnae luncheon—again in a body, as there was still so much to be talked about—and then, after a brief rest, called to spend a few minutes with Dr. Foust at his home, and proceeded on their way to the happiest event of the whole eventful day—The Reunion! This was held at Iris (Holt) McEwen's beautiful new home in Brookwood, Burlington's lovely suburb. There they were served a delicious dinner by Iris, ever-lasting president of the class, and received from Anne (Watkins) Fonville and Nina Garner attractive souvenirs of small green vases filled with daisies.

Annie Bostian, a very successful elementary school principal in Salisbury, holds a Master's degree from Columbia University.

Jeannette Murgrove Bounds (Mrs. H. V.) has a handsome nineteen year old son, Howard, Jr., and is interested in all sorts of community activities in and around her Weldon home.

Katherine Rockett Cashion (Mrs. V. B.), Hickory, this year had a sophomore daughter at Woman's College, and another daughter graduating from high school. Katherine has resumed her teaching since the girls have grown older.

Hazel Stephens Fine (Mrs. George), and Susannah, aged sixteen, will be entering college in another year.

Sallie Boddie Patterson (Mrs. Karl B.), wife of a mathematics professor at Duke University, has enjoyed her "ready-made" family of three interesting daughters, all of whom are now grown, the youngest one graduating at Duke this year.

Alice Robbins lives at home in Le-noir, teaching mathematics in the high school there and serving as home maker for her mother, brother, and Irene. The whole class was sorry to learn that Irene had not been very well for several years, but rejoiced to know that she was the same bright, courageous spirit she had been all through her college years.

Bertha Stanbury Scott (Mrs. W. L.) is the mother of six fine children, four daughters and two sons. Her oldest daughter, Alice, was graduated from college in 1938. Her second daughter, Mary, was during the past winter a freshman at Woman's College. She is the same bright attractive personality that Bertha was at that age. Being the wife of a Methodist minister, Bertha has lived in numerous parts of the state. She is now living near Lexington.

Fannie Starr Mitchell Sellars (Mrs. E. M.) won her Master's degree from Columbia in 1930, along with Ruth Gunter. Until recently she taught her beloved math at the Greensboro High School, and since then has been making a home for her husband and two young stepsons, Lacy Starr and Elmo, Jr.

Ruth Hampton Shuping (Mrs. Lero-y) has three sons, Leroy, Jr., Hamp-ton, and Brooks. The wife of a prominent Greensboro lawyer, Ruth has participated in various political and civic enterprises. In answer to the question, "Have you done any creative work," she replied, "I fell out the window and broke my neck and survived. Isn't that enough?"

Winifred Turlington Smith (Mrs. Ernest) lives in Fayetteville, where she teaches. Her daughter Margaret was a sophomore at Woman's College last year.

Agnes Warren Stephens (Mrs. Lewis) who still lives in Dunn, has one young son, Lewis, Jr., seventeen years old, a freshman during the past year at Chapel Hill.

Bessie Terry, very successful principal of the Rockingham grammar school, earned her Master's degree at Woman's College in 1931. With her brother, a professor at New York University, she has made several most interesting trips to Canada and Mexico.

Annie May Woods has achieved the unusual distinction of being the only woman county superintendent in North Carolina. She serves in that capacity in Brunswick County, where she is doing excellent work.

Fannie Starr Mitchell Sellars.
Ruth Gunter.

CLASS OF 1923

Sixteen members of the Class of 1923 were back for the reunion dinner at the King Cotton Hotel Saturday evening, June 3, at 6:30. A number wrote letters regretting they could not come, and Fannie Carmon Snipes, of Fayetteville, sent a snapshot album with pictures of college days, and more recent days in the Snipes family, as a memorial to Mae Strick.

Those at the dinner were: Neil Craig, society editor Greensboro Record; Anna Johnson, Wake County Health Department, Raleigh; Margaret Lane, Child Welfare Division, State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, Raleigh; Eugenia Gray, Cary, teacher; Maybelle Penn Thompson, personnel director, Meyer's, Greensboro; Dorothy Clement, faculty of the school of music, Woman's College; Agnes Stout, faculty of Queens-Chiora College, Charlotte; Emily Cox Holland, Greensboro; Pearl Taylor Irvin, Greensboro; Mary Teresa Peacock Douglas, director public school libraries, State Department of Education, Raleigh; Susie West Mendenhall, Burlington; Anne Litta Mascromo, Wadesboro, teacher; Ida Belle Moore, Greensboro, teacher; Sara Harper Jerome, Greensboro, insurance; Alna Kiser, Greensboro, teacher; Virginia Terrell Lathrop, News Bureau, Woman's College.

Letters came from Helene Hudnell, Suffolk, Va.; Mae Shearer Stringfield, Thomasville; Eva Hodges, Greenville—all teachers; Miriam Goodwin, director of religious activities, St. Albans Church, Long Island; Grace Albright Stamey, Waynesville; Daisy Anderson, State Teachers' College, East Radford, Va.; Mary Sue Beam Fonville, teacher, Raleigh; Bynum Maynard Warren, Hillsboro.

Virginia Terrell Lathrop, President.

CLASS OF 1924

Our class met on Saturday evening of Alumnae Day for a six o'clock supper at the Jefferson Roof Restaurant.

We reviewed the entire class roll, and pooled the information we had about one another.

We also set in motion definite plans for our reunion five years hence.

Cleo Mitchell, Secretary.

CLASS OF 1925

Our class had a delightful reunion at the lovely home of Pauline Tarleton Ellis in Sunset Hills, Greensboro. Estelle Mendenhall LeGwin and Thettis Smith Hoffner acted in the capacity of a committee on the supper, which was served buffet at small tables placed on the terrace overlooking the garden. (And certainly the garden must have been at its loveliest on this occasion.) A spray of ragged robins, the class flower, lay at every plate. The whole occasion was enlivened by informal discussion. Greetings were read from Nan (Earle) Green, senior class president, who was away on a trip, and sorry that it had to come at the time of the reunion. However, our everlasting president, Polly Duffy Bridgers, was with us. Those present: Winnie Barwick Debnam, Edna Bigham, Rurita Biggs, Willa Campbell Whitesell, Blanche Dellinger Hamrick, Polly Duffy Bridgers, Louise Farber, Edna Harvey Bagwell, Sara Hunt Ferguson, Mozelle Jackson Underwood, Beatrice McCracken Hall, Carolyn McNairy, Estelle Mendenhall LeGwin, Estelle Mitchell, Cornelia Moore Bracy, Ellen Nash Bishop, Julia Phillips Mitchell, Thettis Smith Hoffner, Pauline Tarleton Ellis, Sybil Dean Wilson Vann, Thettis Hoffner.

CLASS OF 1926

Our class met for supper on the evening of Alumnae Day at the Jefferson Roof Restaurant, and was especially happy because among this group were several who for various reasons had not been able to come to any previous reunion. We paused long enough, in the midst of the feast of reminiscences and the flow of happy conversation, to elect class officers who will serve until the next reunion: president, Evelyn Wilkins Hennessee, Greensboro; vice president, Gertrude Boone Spier, Winterville; secretary, Hermene Warlick Eichhorn, Greensboro; treasurer, Sarah Gully Raper, Lexington.

The class also voted to send to Miss Byrd a check for $10.00 with which to purchase something needed for Alumnae House.

Those present: Elizabeth Ashby Boyles, Gertrude Boone Spier, Corinne Cannady McNairy, Mary Moore Deaton, Sarah Gully Raper, Gwendolya Hampton, Marjorie Hood, Margaret Hudson Joyner, Hilda McCurdy Wray, Wombra McCombs Anthony, Nolie McDonald, Mary Ida McLawhorn, Elizabeth Martin Elm, Mary Polk Gordon, Doris Richardson Sutton, Vera Rosemond McDonald, Ina Seaford McLeod, Eloise Sparger Siceloff, Carrie McLean Taylor, Eleanor Vanneman Benson, Hermene Warlick Eichhorn, Emma Leah Watson Perrett, Addie Wilson, Lois Williamson Richmond, Fudora Younginer Spencer, Eleanor Vanneman Benson.

CLASS OF 1929

We congratulate ourselves that we had a grand reunion!

It centered around a Saturday night supper at the Jefferson Roof Restaurant. Virginia Kirkpatrick did the honors as president. We "called the roll" and heard with interest what has been happening to us since we last met.

Those present: Sarah Katherine Hampton, Leaksville; Hazel Bullock Perry, Durham; Gladys Goodman McInnis, Concord; Virginia Kirkpatrick, Charlotte; Mary Draughon Pridden, Dunn; Dorothy Long, Tobaccoville, all of whom are teaching in their respective towns: Thelma Brady Nicholson, Ellerbe; Edna Brown Sims, Kannapolis—teaching and keeping house too. Virginia Jackson and Hattie Rodwell Johnson are working at Vick Chemical Company, Greensboro. Nannie Lee Griggs Hinson, Belmont, keeps house and takes care of her young son, as does Katherine Fleming Middleton, Raleigh, who has a lovely little daughter, and also Louise Dannenbaum Falk, Greensboro, who has a son and a daughter, and Rachel Aycock White, High Point, who likewise is the proud possessor of a son and daughter. Hilda Burton Fountain lives in High Point—she has two sons. Era Linker Funderburke teaches in Concord, and is also executive secretary of the American Red Cross. Elizabeth Draughan is secretary for the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church, Danville, Ky. Irene Boliek, our class Ph.D., is a member of the faculty of the Florida State College for Women, where she teaches biology. Ruby Stellman Courtney lives at Yadkinville; Althea Williams at Graham; Rosa Jones Little, at Anderson, S. C. Ruth Clinard is executive secretary of the American Red Cross, Greensboro. Elizabeth Cauthen has a position with the Raleigh Gas Company. Betty Steinhardt Widmer "keeps house and has fun" at her home in Franklin, Va. Virginia Van Dalsem Woltz, Greensboro, is assistant area supervisor of service and professional projects for the WPA. She has two sons.

We found that 164 members of the class are married. We heard with sadness that seven have died.

Under Betty Steinhardt Widmer's guidance, we made a personally conducted tour of Spencer Hall. (Betty, before her marriage, was a counsellor in Spencer.) We could hardly believe our eyes—redesigned and redecorated, it is a place fit for celebrities. We were especially fascinated with the kitchen facilities. And the parlors were beyond expectation. An attractive game room has replaced the Spencer "gym" we knew in far away '29. All of you must come see the college for yourselves.

Era Linker Funderburke, Secretary.

CLASS OF 1935

The members of our class present for commencement met for dinner on Saturday evening at the Jefferson Roof Restaurant. This was not a regular reunion, but an "extra," called forth because of the presentation of the portrait to Alumnae House in the morning. But whenever a group of Woman's College alumnae come together, be it large or small, the spirit of reunion is there also.

Helen Dugan, Secretary.

CLASS OF 1938

The '38s had supper on Saturday evening at the Jefferson Roof Restaurant. We talked about many things, heard the latest news about one another, and enjoyed the occasion—wishing of course that all the absent ones had been there too.

Lucy Spinks, President.

NORFOLK-PORTS-MOUTH ALUMNAE CLUB

The spring meetings of our club were particularly enjoyable. Although our number is few, there is a rare fellowship and loyalty among us. In February, Marie Buys Hardison entertained the group. We were sorry to lose from our ranks at this time: Annie Wall Baldwin Harmon, who has moved from the city. Contributions were received for the gift of linen which we had earlier sent to the Alumnae House. The March meeting was held at the home of Marie Richard Fluker. Easter motifs were emphasized in the refreshments served by the hostess, assisted by her young daughter, Frances Richard Fluker. In April, we met with Ethel Wicker. Articles from the new Alumnae News were read and heard with enthusiasm. We would not willingly miss a single issue of this magazine. Again a social hour was enjoyed. The last meeting of the year was held with Mrs. Leslie Horsley, Jennie Eagle and Marie Richard Fluker were appointed to prepare papers on "The Public Schools of Today," to be read at the first fall meeting. Our thoughts and conversation were all on one topic—Commencement, since this meeting fell on Alumnae Day. How we longed to be at the College!

Marie Richard Fluker, Secretary.

THE MASSACHUSETTS CLUB

HAIL TO THE NEWIS!

A dinner given by Elizabeth Ashley at her home in Westfield, Mass., on April 1, was the occasion for the formation of a Massachusetts Woman's College Alumnae Club. Adrienne Wormser came up from New York City. Florence Nelson, her sister Lillian, and Frances Crean were there from New Britain, Conn. Margaret Krall, Lois MacAleese, Vivian Rothacher, and Milly Yunker arrived from Springfield; Joan and Alice Ryan came from Easthampton, Mass. After a lovely dinner, we played games, talked, chose a secretary, resolved to meet once every two months or so, and decided to write to our alumnae office for information about other organizations and their activities.

Milly Yunker, Secretary.

"AN OLD DOOR"

Entrance to Ye Junior Shoppe and the Pauses That Refresh
Summer management of Dorothy Coley '40 and Martha McLean '40

NASHVILLE (TENNESSEE) CLUB

Meeting five. Our April meeting was held at the home of Lucille Sharp Hassell. The president was in the chair. The treasurer's report and minutes of the March meeting were read and approved. Of chief interest among new business, was the election of a new president, made necessary because Evelyn Cavileer, who had served for two years, was leaving Nashville. Arline Fonville Irvine was chosen as her successor. This action necessitated the election of a new secretary-treasurer, and Catherine Vernon was named to this post.

A vote of thanks was given to Evelyn Cavileer for the fine work she had done as president of the club.

After the completion of the business, more work was done on the scrap books. The meeting ended with the usual social period, during which the hostess served refreshments.

Arline Fonville Irvine.

WASHINGTON CITY CLUB

Meeting three. On May 3, Washington alumnae met for a short business meeting, with Catherine Melver presiding. Plans for an alumnae dinner were made. As a program feature, Miss Helen Fuller, chairman of the Council of Young Southerners, spoke most interestingly. She gave a brief history of the origin of the Council, and then presented its aims and objectives. She pointed to North Carolina as a shining example of a state which has modern-minded and up-and-coming young people.

Bella E. Shachtman, Secretary.

JANE DUPUY '39

who was awarded the Weil Fellowship on Commencement Day

News from the Alumnae

1897

Mary Best Jones' husband, Dr. Isaac H. Manning, professor of physiology at the University of North Carolina, delivered the principal address at the graduating exercises of the North Carolina Sanatorium Training School for Nurses the middle of last May.

1899

It was a great pleasure to have Minnie Melver Brown as one of our guests in Alumnae House during Commencement. Mrs. Brown has served the college long and well as a member of the Board of Trustees—first, for a number of years as a member of the Board of the North Carolina College for Women, and now as member of the Consolidated Board of the University of North Carolina.

1905

Ruth Fitzgerald is serving her second year as state president of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor sorority for women teachers who have achieved recognized success in their profession. For several months, she has been busily engaged in perfecting plans for the national convention, which is to be held in August in North Carolina, at Asheville, when practically every state in the Union will be represented among the delegates.

1906

A May issue of The Rocky Mount Evening Telegram carries a picture of Josie Doub Bennett as she was arranging a foliage display at the Flower Show held under the auspices of the Rocky Mount Garden Club. Mrs. Bennett is president of the club and is leading an extensive program directed toward beautifying the entire city. "When Rocky Mounters think of art, culture, and community work, the name of Mrs. J. R. Bennett is certain to enter the picture," says the Telegram. The work of the Methodist Church, the activities of the Parent-Teacher Association, and the book and garden clubs claim her attention. And she was one of the leaders in founding the Rocky Mount Cooperative Concert Association. In the work of the Alumnae Association, her place is well known. A Charleston (S. C.) newspaper, in a recent issue, published a picture of Jack Bennett, Jr. (Josie's oldest son), who was graduated from The Citadel in June: "John R. Bennett, Jr., member of the senior class, is prominent in many extra-curricular activities at the Citadel. He was one of the chemistry majors who this year organized the Knox Chemistry Society and was elected its first president. During his four years at The Citadel, he has taken a definite interest in literary affairs which culminated in his election as president of the Calliopean Literary Society for the second semester. He is a member of the Standing Hop Committee, the group which plans all Citadel dances. During his junior year he was one of those cadets who formed the junior exhibition drill platoon. Ranking high in academic and military subjects, he wears gold stars, Citadel award for academic excellence, and holds the rank of cadet first lieutenant, assigned to the regimental staff as ordnance officer." Her second son, William Doub Bennett, was graduated this June from the Rocky Mount High School.

1908

Mary Fitzgerald is studying this summer at Columbia University.

Edna Forney is becoming a champion prize winner. During the winter she won $250.00 in the National Movie Quiz Contest, for writing 50 words on the moving picture she liked best among 30 pictures she had viewed in a prescribed list of 90. Her friends wanted to touch her for a loan! But no indeed—came Easter holidays, Edna, in fetching spring wardrobe, set out for a cruise to the West Indies, visiting Cuba, Jamaica, and Haiti. One good turn deserves another, and so she entered the advertising contest conducted in April by the Greensboro Daily News and Greensboro Record. Again she won. Hundreds of letters were submitted on the subject, "Why I Read Newspaper Advertisements." We have heard rumors that other prizes have also come her way.

1910

Willard Powers spent two months last summer touring Europe. She says she is living the trip all over again this summer through her scrapbook and diary, and making plans to go back again next year. Last fall she was hostess to the Rutherford County Alumnae Association at her home in Rutherfordton. Muriel (Barnes) Erwin is president of this association.

Eunice (Roberts) Gardner is the new regent of the Benjamin Cleveland Chapter of the D. A. R., Shelby.

Marion (Stevens) Hood's husband, Gurney P. Hood, Bank Commissioner for the State of North Carolina, was a member of the Uniting Methodist Conference which convened for several weeks in Kansas City, opening the latter part of April. Marion is also a leader in the work of the Methodist Church. Their son, Sam, is now city editor of the Evening Telegram, Rocky Mount.

Laura (Weill) Cone went to Princeton in May to hear the string quartet of the Music Department play a sonata written by her son, Edward. She also visited her daughter, Frances Stern Hetherington, and her young grandson, Ferris Sands III, who was born early last April, in New York City.

1912

May Green is a member of the firm of Crim, Brunt and Green, Inc., Winston-Salem. This firm is a successful furniture establishment.

Kate (Styron) McCullough, whose address is 3337 86th Street, Jackson Heights, New York City, will help you if you are going to the World's Fair and want to rent a room in a private home. The official announcements which she has sent out state that residential reservations are available in New York's best homes; ten minutes from the fair, twenty minutes from Broadway. She will also be glad to answer any questions concerning the fair, reservations, rates, etc.

1913

Ethel (Bollinger) Keiger was recently elected president of St. Leo's Auxiliary in Greensboro. The auxiliary plans during this next year to raise funds with which to pay for the new nursery incubator which has recently been installed in the hospital. The auxiliary also plans to complete the renovation of the obstetrics ward.

Verta (Idol) Coé has a new place at Myrtle Beach this summer—Shoreline. It is newly furnished throughout with modern maple furniture and Slumbertime inner-spring mattresses.

1914

Coline (Austin) Thies has a daughter, Coline Austin, who will be a junior in the Davidson High School next year. We hope to have Coline Junior a student at Woman's College two years from now. Coline's husband is a member of the faculty of Davidson College, in the Department of Chemistry.

Fannie Starr Mitchell Sellars was recently elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro.

Moffitte Sinclair Henderson's daughter, Elinor, was a member of the graduating class this June, receiving a B.S.H.E. degree. Moffitte had a delightful trip to Chicago early in May, visiting her friends, the Rippys. Dr. Rippy was formerly a member of the faculty of Duke University.

1915

Gladys (Avery) Tillet was one of the leaders in the convention of Southern Democratic Women held in Winston-Salem early in May. Her daughter, Gladys, student at Woman's College, also took part in the program—one of a group of Woman's College students, representatives of the Young Democrats Club, who appeared in a panel discussion. In January, Gladys Senior went to Washington to attend the Fourteenth Conference on the Cause and Cure of War. In June she attended the dinner given in New York City, honoring Governor and Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey, there for North Carolina Day at the World's Fair.

Ida Frost Bray's husband, Dudley Bagley, is chairman of the State Electrification Authority. He is also a trustee of the University of North Carolina, and was recently named by Governor Hoey as one of the trustees to serve on the coordinating committee of the State Department of Agriculture and of the North Carolina State College Extension Division.

Belle (Walters) Griffin is living in Raleigh, where her husband is executive secretary of the State School Commission.

1916

Elizabeth (Harrison) Duckett and her family are living now in Washington City, where they moved during the spring from residence in Norfolk. Elizabeth writes that they are very happy to be in the nation's capital again, and glad to be even a few miles nearer their son, DuVal, Jr., who will be a senior next year at the Manlius (New York) School. Commander Duckett, her husband, retired in June, and so she thinks that Washington will likely be her permanent home.

Rosa (Blakeney) Parker, together with her husband and Rosa Junior, spent a week in New York during July, seeing the World's Fair and visiting Alice Sawyer.

Sadie (McBrayer) McCain was elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Fayetteville Presbytery in March when that organization met in Fayetteville. Early in May, she and Dr. McCain enjoyed a trip to Bermuda. With special exercises held at Sanatorium the latter part of April, the memorial plaque honoring Dr. L. B. McBrayer, Sadie's father, was presented. Jane Todd, Sadie's youngest daughter, unveiled the plaque—a gift of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association. Sadie's oldest daughter was graduated this June from Agnes Scott College, and her oldest son from Southern Pines High School.

Genevieve Moore is on leave of absence for a few months from the Dobbins Memorial Children's Home, Mount Holley, N. J., where she has been a member of the staff for four years. "Headquarters," she writes, "are at my home in High Point." But she is doing her vacationing in other "cool resorts."

1917

Caroline (Goforth) Hogue went to Denver the middle of June to attend the meeting of the National Board of the A. A. U. W. This board was in session for four days prior to the convention proper.

Juanita (McDougald) Melchior and her husband, Prof. W. T. Melchior, of Syracuse University, will be members of the Fifth Annual Cooperative Art Conference and Music Institute which will be held at Blue Ridge the week of August 14-20 in connection with the Institute of Southern Culture. Conferences on gardening and drama will also be included.

1919

Eoline (Everett) May is teacher of journalism and creative writing at Stratford College. In that capacity, she is also faculty adviser of The Stratford Traveller, college newspaper, which has won so many national laurels that there is hardly room on the masthead to print them. But to cap the climax, in May out came an all-comic issue of The Traveller, magazine size, done in exciting red and white, and entitled "The Old Gray Mare." The whole work seems almost like a miracle in student publishing.

1921

Ruth (Vick) Everett is the new chairman of the Fine Arts Department of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs. The departments of Music, Art, and Literature, are the three divisions of this committee. Last year she was chairman of the Literature Department. The latter part of June, Ruth went to Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., where she was a speaker at the second annual Professional Relations Institute. Ruth has entered upon her second year as field secretary for the North Carolina Education Association. She enjoys the work and is rendering most valuable service to this organization.

1922

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Bechtold (Martha Bradley), a son, John Albert Bechtold, July 2, Charlotte.

We appreciate your patronage, really

Union
Bus Station

Phone 6151

1923

Nell Craig was elected by the Greensboro Altrusa Club to be its representative at the Eighteenth Convention of Altrusa International held in Portland, Oregon, July 5-9. Mrs. Harriette Quisenberry, of Dallas, Texas, National President, appointed Nell sergeant-at-arms for the convention. She is a charter member and a past president of the Greensboro Club.

Sarah (Harper) Jerome was guest speaker for the Greensboro Rose Garden Club at one of its spring meetings. She talked on Flower Arrangements of the Early American, Empire, Georgian, and Victorian periods. She also displayed fabrics and containers of the four periods.

Mollie (M a t h e s o n) Boren was elected president of the Greensboro Junior League at its March meeting, and was installed in June. Last year Mollie made an excellent record as ways and means chairman of this organization. She represented the League at its national meeting this year.

1924

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Leonard Richardson (Sara Louise Cowan), a daughter, Sara Louise, April 18, Monroe.

Velma Beam, Roxboro, Home Demonstration Agent in Person County, was a guest speaker at the April dinner meeting of the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club. Velma was president of the Greensboro Club during the two years previous to her departure for her present post. She is membership chairman for the State Federation.

Congratulations to Mary (Bran-nock) Blauch, who was awarded her Ph.D. degree in chemistry at Chicago University at the March Convocation. This summer, she and her husband are at the University of Maryland, College Park. The coming fall they will be again in Chicago. Mary was a visitor in Alumnae House in March.

1925

Elizabeth Hathaway was guest speaker at a meeting of the Girl Reserves at the Greensboro Y. W. C. A. in March. She used as her subject, "Dress, Personality, and Charm." "Sass" is counsellor in Hinshaw Hall at Woman's College.

Estelle (Mendenhall) LeGwin won new honors for herself when she sang the role of Senta in the scene from the Wagnerian opera, "The Flying Dutchman," which was presented by the Greensboro Euterpe Club the latter part of May in Odell Memorial Auditorium. This particular program, composed of selections from the operas, was given under the direction of George M. Thompson, of the Woman's College School of Music, and was one of the programs especially featured by the Euterpe Club this year in commemoration of its fiftieth anniversary.

Lorna Thigpen, Ph.D., was a visitor on the campus early in May. While here, she was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, having been elected this spring.

Margaret (Thornton) Clover and her two children, Philip Junior and Margaret, live in Hamburg, Germany. They visited in Greensboro for several weeks last spring, and returned to their European home aboard the S. S. Washington the latter part of March.

1926

Born to Dr. and Mrs. John Albert Tiedeman (Kathryn Price) a daughter, Katrina Crapon, March 15, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro.

Rebecca (Cameron) Veasy was on a bus trip with her husband in Georgia during commencement, and regretted that she could not be here for the class reunion.

Aylene (Edwards) Cooke is living now in Mooresville. She has a son nearly two years old.

Inah (Kirkman) Squires is superintendent of the Department of Public Welfare of Caldwell County. She lives in Lenoir.

ALICE MURDOCH '39

Appointed by Governor Hoey, she served as sponsor for North Carolina at the annual Rhododendron Festival held in Asheville in June.

Dr. Vance (Thompson) Alexander, her husband, Dr. F. O. Alexander, and their two sons are living now in Honolulu, where Dr. Alexander has been transferred from El Paso, Texas. He is in government service.

Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn is the author and composer of a new chorus, "A Woman Plowing in the Field," which is dedicated to the Euterpe (Greensboro) Club Chorus. It was rendered for the first time by this chorus on March 28 at the program on North Carolina composers given by the Euterpe Club in the Recital Hall of the Music Building.

Louise White is now Mrs. Rhea and lives in Windsor.

Caro Mae Green Russell ex-'26 and Professor J. O. Taylor, of the University of North Carolina Department of English, have joined forces in organizing the Chapel Hill Writer's Service. Here are a few of the things they do:

Decide whether a manuscript is worth revision and accept or reject it for criticism.

Submit competent, dignified critical analysis with specific suggestions for revision.

Offer a bibliographical and checking service. The libraries of the University of North Carolina and Duke University may be used to verify statements in historical, sociological, biographical, or scientific books or articles.

Consult specialists in the fields listed above.

Employ trained typists to typewrite manuscripts for writers unable to typewrite.

Advise where to send manuscripts for publication, furnish names of reliable literary agents, and suggest proper forms for submitting manuscripts to publishers.

Here are some of the things they do not do:

- Re-write a manuscript.
- Edit in the sense of re-writing.
- Accept poetry for criticism.

Accept work for criticism on a commission or royalty basis.

"In short, we give you expert advice and help."

The Chapel Hill Writer's Service makes a reasonable charge for their services. Write to them if you have any problem at all in this field. There is no charge for their reply.

1927

Eleanor Barton and her mother are taking a trip to the Pacific Coast this summer. They went by way of New York City, Chicago, Colorado Springs, Yellowstone and Yosemite. On their

Compliments
of Montaldo's

Books for every taste
Greeting cards for every occasion
Social stationery - plain & printed

THE BOOK SHOP

123 South Greene Street

KING COTTON HOTEL

GREENSBORO, N. C.

250 ROOMS 250 BATHS

Haywood Duke, Manager

GEO. W. KANE

General Contractor

603 Jefferson Standard Building

Dial 4239

Dial 8193 and let

The Columbia Laundry

do it.

Launderers and Dry Cleaners
Battleground Ave. at Cedar St.

BROOKS-WILSON CO. READY-TO-WEAR SHOP

119 South Greene Street

"A Smart Place to Shop"

Suits, Coats, Sweaters and Skirts

It Pays to Buy

AT KAY'S

HEADQUARTERS

for

Stylecrest Triple-Tested
Diamonds

Nationally Advertised

Watches, Jewelry, Radios,
Cameras, Typewriters

Cor. Elm and Washington

GREENSBORO, N. C.

return, they visited Grand Canyon, El Paso, Tex., and New Orleans, La.

Allene (Hunt) Jackson, vice chairman of the Lee County Democratic Executive Committee, was hostess to the Democratic women in that county at a meeting held at her home in Jonesboro during May. This was the first meeting of its kind to be held in the county. Allene was also recently hostess at the last meeting of the year of the Sanford Woman's Club. She served as president of this group until she moved to Jonesboro.

Cynthia Reeves was reelected president of the Greensboro Association of Classroom Teachers at the final meeting in May. Elizabeth Buhmann '36 was named corresponding secretary. Cynthia was also the central figure in bringing to Greensboro Dr. Reuben T. Shaw, President of the National Education Association, who addressed the classroom teachers at a banquet meeting held the latter part of May at Greensboro College.

1928

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Adams Rogers (Wilhelmina Weiland), a daughter, May 23, Hernando County Hospital, Brooksville, Fla.

Rachel Cordle has taught history for the last two years in the Elon High School. She is also one of the supervising practice teachers for Elon College students who plan to teach that subject.

Frances (Gibson) Satterfield represented Woman's College on the College Day program held at Bethesda-Chevy Chase (Maryland) High School the latter part of March. The general subject of the meeting was "After Graduation—What?" Representatives of various colleges were present, and the high school seniors and their parents were given an opportunity to talk with these representatives in order to secure more definite information about the institution in which they were interested. Catherine McIver '33 accompanied "Gibby," the two making an excellent team. They reported that they talked with about sixty people about this college.

Evelyn (Gordon) Ripple will have a sister, Lois, in the freshman class at College this fall.

1929

Mozelle Causey is faculty advisor for the Greensboro High School debating team. In March the Greensboro group met a team from Thomasville High School, and later in the spring debated with teams from Burlington, Bessemer, Salisbury, and Sumner high schools. More recently, at the first North Carolina Speech and Debate Tournament held at Wake Forest College, this team placed high. One of her students was first in extemporaneous speaking.

Pauline (Pittard) Gillespie's husband, Dr. Arthur Gillespie, was recently named head of the Baptist Theological Seminary to be established at Kaifeng, China. The Gillespies returned to China on April 3 from a furlough in the United States.

1930

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Torpy (Frankie-Jo Mann), a son, Charles Ray, May 17, Alexandria, Va.

Charlotte Van Noppen spent the winter with her mother in Miami, Fla. She returned to North Carolina early in May, where she was ill for several weeks in Duke Hospital. In June the Van Noppens went to Montreat where they are spending the summer with Adelaide Van Noppen Howard '19 and her family.

1931

Sara Henry is the new president of Pilot International Club, Greensboro, having been elected at the April meeting. The club is sponsoring a series of parties to raise money to aid in financing the stay-at-home campaign at the Greensboro Y. W. C. A. It also gave financial assistance to the Cancer Control Campaign.

Katherine Morgan Kirkman's husband, O. A. Kirkman, Jr., was elected mayor of High Point in May.

FRANKLIN STUDIO

Superb

PHOTOGRAPHY

PORTRAITS

COPY WORK

FRAMES

MINIATURES

123 S Elm St.

Phone 5313

Greensboro, N. C.

Over Roscoe-Griffin Shoe Co.

1932

Born to Dr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Fowler, (Marion Holoman), a son, July 4, City Hospital, Akron, Ohio.

Pearle Raper had two sisters in the graduating class this year—Margaret and Annie Ruth Raper. Pearl visited them on the campus during the spring. She taught last year in the Kannapolis schools.

1933

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Byers (Mary McBuie), a son, Howard Hollowell, Jr., March 31, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro.

Helene Coogan and her sister, Anne '34, were guests of Margaret Kernodle '34 in Greensboro during commencement.

Claire Hartsook Boyce is the new president of the Greensboro Junior Woman's Club. She was also chairman of the alumnae committee for the reception in Alumnae House on April 13, honoring the members of the graduating class and Mrs. Clyde R. Hoey and Isabel Hoey.

Myrtle Stedman, who has been teaching home economics in the Central Junior and Senior High Schools, Greensboro, has recently been appointed acting head of the home economics department of the city schools.

1934

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Cotton (Nedje Patterson), a daughter, Marcia Gayle, June 17, Mercy Hospital, Charlotte.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Leland E. Chisholm (Linda Smith), a son, Donald, April 13, New York City.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. John Robert Bender (Louise Zimmerman), a son, Bobby, Lexington.

Adelaide Fortune's husband, Howard Holderness, vice president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, was one of the speakers on the two-day program of the sixth annual spring meeting of the financial section of the American Life Convention, held at the Palmer House in Chicago the latter part of March. Adelaide is active in civic work in Greensboro, and last spring served as campaign chairman for the Greensboro Y. W. C. A., in an effort to lift the debt of $30,000 on the Y building. Her small daughter, Lucinda, lighted the candles on the giant birthday cake which was the center of attraction at the Junior Girl Reserve mother-daughter banquet, held in celebration of their twentieth anniversary last spring. Lucinda now has a baby brother, Howard, born February 5.

1935

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Wyrick (Edythe Ellis) a son, Charles L., Jr., May 5, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Guill (Anna Mae Kornegay), a daughter, Doris Dawn, May 23, Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro.

Barbara Graves has an exciting position as secretary to the Assistant Director of the New York World's Fair. She lives in Greenwich Village.

Gertrude Hatcher, who has a secretarial position in Raleigh, was the week end guest of Mary Louise Jeffers in Irving Park, during commencement.

Margaret Moser is in Chicago this summer, studying with her sister, Katherine Moser, at the University of Chicago. She spent several days in Indianapolis with her sister, Rachel, who is dietitian at the medical center of the University of Indiana.

1936

Evelyn Cavileer, who has been on the staff of the Methodist Publishing Board, in Nashville, Tenn., since her graduation, resigned her work there and is now with her family, where she is giving her whole time to her own writing. She is being greatly missed in Nashville, both at her former desk and among her many friends.

Edith (Powell) Rose was a visitor in Alumnae House the latter part of May. She is home supervisor of the Farm Security Administration for Johnston County, working under the general direction of the United States Department of Agriculture. Headquarters are in Smithfield, her home.

Lois (Swett) Abbott lives at Dedham, Mass. She enjoys keeping her attractive apartment, and hopes that any Woman's College alumnae who pass that way will stop by to see her. Lois came to North Carolina last spring, visiting among others her sister, Mary (Swett) Barney, now living in Charlotte. Lois says she and her husband are planning to see the World's Fair this summer, and also some of northern New England.

1937

Betsy Dupuy attended the World Conference of Christian Youth at Amsterdam, Holland, in July, and

Make The
O. Henry
YOUR Hotel

Elegantly equipped,
with every refinement,
and friendly, courteous service.

• •

THE
O. HENRY HOTEL

W. J. Black, Manager

A DINKLER HOTEL

CARLING DINKLER
President and General Manager

ALWAYS FIRST

In Showing the Newest

Betty Lou Shop

126 South Elm Street

BLUE BIRD TAXI

DIAL 5112

25c 1 to 4 passengers 25c

ALL NEW CARS

spent the two weeks following traveling in Europe. In September, Betsy will take up her new duties as Girl Reserve Secretary at a Y. W. C. A. in Atlanta, Ga. For the past two years Betsy has held a similar position in the High Point Y. W. C. A.

Phyllis Morrah has been contributing a series of unique articles to the Sunday issue of the Greensboro Daily News; such articles, for instance, as "First Dates, Like Fall of Rome, Important Events," "All Good Things Eventually Find an End," "Mild Madness Attacks Miladys Boot Makers," etc.

Mary Hamer Pate presented her choir and glee club at Elise Academy, Hemp, several times during the commencement season of the school, early in May.

Wilfred Schlosser was sworn in last March as deputy clerk of the Greensboro Municipal Court.

Lucy Spinks is now in Raleigh, where she has a new position as secretary with the Plant Food Institute of North Carolina and Virginia. She left the College on May 1, where she had been secretary to the class chairmen for the past year. Mary Nunn '37 took her place.

1938

Laura Bateman has assumed her duties as pastor's assistant at Eller Memorial Baptist Church, Greensboro. Last year Laura studied at the Baptist Women's Missionary Training School, and during the year was guest speaker at Forest Avenue Baptist Church, Greensboro. Her new work will be in the educational field, young people's activities, and general church work. During her senior year she was president of the College Baptist Student Union, and was the senior speaker for her class on Alumnae Day.

Mary Boney went to Knoxville, Tenn., in May to accept a position as director of religious education in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church there.

Calena Brothers is to be married to Edward Louis Herring, August 12, Rocky Mount. They plan to live in Raleigh, where Ed is an adjuster with the C. I. T. Corporation.

Betty Calder came down from Philadelphia for a visit on the campus the week end of May Day. She was sorry she could not come back for commencement, but she "had to come when her ride could come."

Fannie Daniel said at the reunion dinner that she was planning to make her summer memorable by a trip to California and the Fair.

Helen (Foster) Esburg has a position as medical secretary at Duke University. Sarah Cooke, ex-'38, also has a position there.

Pim Hayes is working for Dr. Pass Fearrington, in Winston-Salem as laboratory technician, and is delighted with her work. Pim was among those who came back for the class reunion.

Mildred Mashburn is studying at Columbia this summer, working on a Master's degree in commercial education.

Geraldine Matthews has a new position—secretary with the American Tobacco Company, Durham.

Florence Lee Nelson has been transferred for next year from the Putnam School to the Lincoln School in New Britain, Conn. This summer she is working on her Master's degree in

Makes you Glad
YOU'RE THIRSTY

12 OUNCES
5¢

Royal in Name Royal in Quality

BOTTLED BY

GREENSBORO NEHI BOTTLING CO.

"BEVERAGE HEADQUARTERS"

823 Battleground Ave.

Phone 9824

physical education at the university of Wisconsin.

Nan Carrollynn Norwine, Flat River, Mo., was at College for the class reunion. She does a column, "Culinary Chats," for one of the Missouri papers.

Early in the summer, Rachel Nye had an interesting trip to New England and the Fair in New York.

Grace Parker is in Kinston, working with the N. Y. A.

Vivian Rothacher is planning to spend a July vacation in Rocky Mount with the Brothers twins.

Judy Root was on the campus during commencement. She has been teaching at Cornell University for the past several months and is enthusiastic about her work.

Miriam Sloan is doing art work for the State College Extension Service, Raleigh.

Elizabeth Starnes completed a secretarial course at King Smith School, Washington, this spring, and has had a job with one of the capital's congressmen ever since.

Lorena Strohm should receive recognition as one of the most loyal members of the class. She has spent at least three week ends at the College in the last few months, coming by train from Annapolis, Md., and returning to teach school on Monday morning. Incidentally, she thinks there is nothing like school teaching!

Ruth Westcott was wearing a beautiful engagement ring at commencement. Her marriage to Charles J. Kibler is planned to take place in August. Mr. Kibler is a graduate of St. Johns College, Annapolis. He received his Ph.D. degree in chemistry at the University of Virginia in June. He is now working for the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y.

Ruth (Whalin) Little spent a week on the campus during May.

Charlotte Williams is now married and lives in California. She suggests that our next class reunion be held in California, since "there's nothing like it!"

Rachel Woolard taught physical education in the Durham city schools the last months of the school year, and enjoyed it thoroughly.

Helen Zeock is now Mrs. Earl Wiswesser, 441 Rosenthal Street, Reading, Penn.

EVERLASTING OFFICERS OF THE CLASS OF 1939

President, Emily Harris

See page 2

Vice President, Gertrude Rainey

Secretary, Sarah Virginia Dunlap

Treasurer, Jeanne Carey

Schiffman's
LEADING JEWELERS SINCE 1893

GREENSBORO, N. C.

A GOOD NAME

THE BEST IN QUALITY

PRICES TO SUIT EVERY PURSE

THE SOUTH'S FINEST JEWELRY AND GIFT STORE

In building, a good architect will pay — in satisfaction and savings.

MANGEL'S

Announces
the convenience of
CHARGE ACCOUNTS

For the past ten years, we have operated a strictly cash store, enjoying the patronage of a long list of loyal shoppers. After due consideration we have reached the conclusion that our patrons would enjoy the convenience of charge accounts, and we are happy to announce this change in our business policy.

216 South Elm Street
GREENSBORO, N. C.

HOME OF SOCIETY PINS

207 South Elm

Phone 2 0044

E. A. WOODSELL

Service Printer

Successor to "Kendall"

221 East Sycamore St. Greensboro, N. C.

Oscar Burnett & Company

Investment Securities

Security Bank Bldg.—Phone 8179

GREENSBORO, N. C.

MARRIED

Marita Frye '24 to Oliver Roy Carothers, June 8, 1939. At home Hudson.

Georgia Kirkpatrick '26 to Curry Lea, June 24. First Presbyterian Church, Raleigh. At home Mount Vernon, New York.

Mary Alice Robertson '26 to Frederick William Terrell, May 27, Christ Church, Raleigh. Of special interest is the fact that the bride is the daughter of Alice (Mullins) Robertson, ex-'97. Mary Alice is connected with the State Department of Education. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University and is now in Raleigh, where he is the North Carolina representative of the publishing firm of D. C. Heath & Company. At home Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh.

Pearl Hege '28 to Ralph Franklin Murphy, August 22, 1938. Mount Olivet Methodist Church, Arcadia. Her sister, Emma Hege Beckerdite '33, was matron of honor, and Mary Ellen Hege '40 was one of the bridesmaids. Ina Stamper '28, Martha Peryman Blakeley '28, Virginia Byerly Hartman '28, and Blanche Raper Zimmerman '28 were present for the wedding. The bridegroom is connected in business with the firm of B. T. Murphy & Son. At home Winston-Salem.

Jan Harvey '30 to Thurman James Williams, May 7, Queen Street Christian Church, Grifton. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wake Forest College. He is district sales manager for the Quaker Oats Company. At home O. Henry Hotel, Greensboro.

Glenn McDougald '30 to George Franklin Newman, April 4, Presbyterian Church, Fayetteville. Since graduation, Glenn has taught public school music with real success in the schools of the state, and has done additional graduate study. Juanita (McDougald) Melchior '17, Syracuse, N. Y., was matron of honor. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Woodberry Forest School and of the University of North Carolina. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, and is vice president of Newman Machine Company, Greensboro. At home there.

Myrtle Lee Vick '30 to Edward Allen Hatcher, June, Wilmington. The bridegroom is manager of the Chevrolet agency in Mount Olive. At home there.

Frances Bulwinkle '33 to Ebissa Grainier Williams, April 20, Lutheran Church of the Reformation, Washington City. Frances is the daughter of Representative A. L. Bulwinkle, of North Carolina. Members of the North Carolina Congressional delegation and their wives presented to the bridal pair a silver tray engraved with the names of the donors. The bridegroom is engaged in the insurance business in Little Rock, Ark., where they are at home.

Emma Rice '33 to Hugh Leonidas Merritt, April 29, Asheboro. For the past three years Emma has been a pupil of Alexander Kelberine, eminent pianist and teacher, of New York City. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and is now associated with the Renfro Hosiery Mills in Mount Airy. At home there.

Sara Edna Sockwell ex-'33 to Talbert Chalmer Bryant, Saturday afternoon, June 24. Elizabeth Sockwell '34 was maid of honor, and Frances (Elder) Sockwell ex-'29 was one of the bridesmaids. Of special interest is the fact that Edna's mother, Sallie Fryar, is also an alumna of the College. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Georgia Tech, and a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He is sales manager for the North Carolina State Automobile Association, for the eastern part of the State, with headquarters in Wilson.

Mary Bailey Williams '33 to Thomas Mellwaine Davis, June 28, Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Greensboro. After her graduation from Woman's College, Mary Bailey did graduate work at the Assembly Training School, Richmond, going from there to Knoxville, Tenn., where she served as secretary to the pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. She later became Director of Religious Education at Druid Hills

JOS. J. STONE & COMPANY

Printers and Bookbinders

Everything for the office

225 South Davie Street • • GREENSBORO, N. C.

Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, a post she held until a few weeks previous to her marriage. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College and of the Union Seminary, Richmond. He is now pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ensley, Ala. Of great interest to all alumnae and friends of the College is the fact that the bride is the daughter of Lillie Boney Williams '98 and Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant, Greensboro, both of whom have an enduring place, along with their daughter, in our affection.

Mary Elizabeth Clapp '34 to Merwyn G. Winton, May 12, at the home of the bride's parents near Guilford National Park. Grace Carmichael '37 was pianist. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pontiac College, and is now connected with the Pontiac Corporation of General Motors. At home Pontiac, Mich.

Mac Hant '34 to Currie Otis Smith, Jr., in June. Ersel Geanes '28 was the bride's only attendant. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Elon College and of the University of North Carolina. He is now assistant treasurer of Graham Production Credit Association, Graham. At home there.

Charlotte McNair '34 to Frederick Alexander Cathey, Jr., June 3, Sanford Presbyterian Church. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and is now associated with the Charlotte office of General Motors Acceptance Corporation. At home Charlotte.

Catherine Bernhardt '35 to Robert Glenn Safrit, May 25, St. Paul's Church, Salisbury. At home Route 3, Salisbury.

Bennie Lee Craig '35 to Aubrey McGowan Inman, April 1, First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro. Since graduation, Bennie Lee has been an associate in the Department of Psychology at Woman's College, where she has a host of friends. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, and a member of Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. At home Greensboro.

Lee Ona Hughes '35 to Clarence Eugene Phillips, Jr., in June, Parkton Presbyterian Church, Parkton. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, and at present is associated with his father in the real estate company of C. E. Phillips & Son.

Susanne Ketchum '35 to Roger Durand Sherman, June 10, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Greensboro. Susanne is one of the brilliant dramatic stars in the history of the College. While a student, she wrote a full-length play, Broken Toys, which was produced in Aycock Auditorium by the Play-Likers. The year following her graduation, she was an assistant to Mr. Taylor. Followed two years as a student in the Department of Fine Arts, Yale University. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Rhode Island School of Design, Providence; Vesper George Art School; and was three years at Yale University, where he studied scenic design. He is now designer and technician on the faculty of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis. During the summer Mr. and Mrs. Sherman will serve as members of the staff of the Wharf Theatre, Providence, R. I., and in the fall they will go to his new post in Appleton, Wis.

Louise Cox '36 to Philip Ward Mattocks, in June. Mayoda n Episcopal Church. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and is now with the B. H. and M. Oil Producing Company. At home El Dorado, Ark.

Clara Gattis '36 to Lochlin Monroe Ward, June 7, First Presbyterian Church, Durham. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Presbyterian College and of the University of North Carolina. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and of Beta Gamma Sigma fraternity. He now holds a position with the Life Insurance Company of Virginia.

Mary Glenn '36 to James Eugene Rankin, March 19, Gastonia. The bridegroom is manager of the S. H. Kress & Company store in Gastonia. At home there.

Marie Parker '36 to Felix Hill Allen, Jr., June 22, Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Louisburg. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wake Forest College, and is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is now engaged in business in Louisburg, where they are at home.

Esther E. Williams '37 to Jack Ernest Bryan, May 6, First Baptist Church, Wilmington. The bridegroom is connected with the Floyd Anderson Drug Store in Fair Bluff, where they are at home.

Margaret Boatman '37 to Tally Graham Ponder, May 5, Episcopal Chapel of the Cross, Chapel Hill. The bridegroom is a graduate of Biltmore Junior College and of the University of North Carolina. He is now a member of the Lenoir County Public Welfare staff in Kinston. At home there.

Lillian Jordan '37 to Earl Norfleet Phillips, January 28, First Baptist Church, Hartsville, S. C. Alma McCain '37 and Elizabeth Ashley '37, were two of her attendants. The bridegroom is an alumnus of William and Mary College, and of Washington and Lee, and a member of Theta Delta Chi fraternity. He is president of Phillip-Davis, Incorporated, and for several years has been a member of the High Point governing council. After a two-months Mediterranean cruise, they will be at home in High Point.

Elizabeth Aycock '38 to John Walton Blackman, Jr., June 19, Fremont Baptist Church. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Atlantic Christian College, and has done graduate study at Duke University. He is now a member of the science faculty of the Greensboro High School. At home Greensboro.

All the thrill of extravagance with the fun of economy at

FIELDS

Exquisite Feminine Apparel

102 South Elm

Phone 7947

THE LOVELIEST
SHOES
in town
POLLOCK'S

102 South Elm Street

The College Girl's Favorite Store for

QUALITY
CLOTHES

Ellis Stone & Co

Tennis Supplies
Balls
Rackets

We can restring your rackets

PROMPT SERVICE
REASONABLE PRICE

Odell Hardware Co.

Facial Treatment — Primrose
House Cosmetics

Scalp Treatment — Parker
Herbex System

Lady Fair Shop, Inc.

114 Jefferson Building

Christy Natural Wave
Cut

All Types Permanent Waving, including Carter's Prescription
Wave

Manicuring Hair Cutting

Telephone 5635
Greensboro, N. C.

DRAGON SHOPS

offer

"Fashion Checked"

Millinery, Hose, Sweaters, and Accessories at budget prices.

Liberal discount offered to teachers and students.

ASK ABOUT IT

123 West Market St.

DICK'S LAUNDRY COMPANY

Launderers and Dry Cleaners

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Jane Ellis '38 to Edward King Cochran, December 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Star. Julia Dameron '39 was one of the attendants. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Presbyterian Junior College, State College, Raleigh, and Coyne Electrical School, Chicago. He is now in business at Star, where they will be at home.

Mary Barker Pelletier '38 to John Cleveland Bell, Jr., May 19, Methodist Church, Maysville. Eleanor Weeks '39 was maid of honor, and Anne McCabe '39, Elizabeth Uzzelle '38, Grace Parker '38, were among the bridesmaids. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Bailey Military Institute and of V. M. I., Lexington, Va. He is now with the State Highway Commission, Raleigh. At home there.

Catherine Landen '38 to Glenn Hunt, January 1, Jamestown. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wake Forest College, and is now connected with the Lowman Motor Company, Greensboro. Catherine continues her work as teacher in the Woodleaf Schools.

Edith Surratt '38 to Hubert Price, May 13, at the home of the bride's parents, Warsaw. The bridegroom holds a position with the High Point Bending & Chair Company. At home High Point.

Kathryn Thompson '38 to Norris Barnes, Jr., June 10, in an evening ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents, Richmond, Va. Mary Virginia (Thompson) Graves '35 was her sister's only attendant. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Woodberry Forest College and of the

PHIL R. CARLTON, Inc.

Real Estate - Rents - Bonding

INSURANCE

Carlton Building, Opposite Courthouse

Dial 8157

For the best follow the college girls to their favorite spot

THE GRILL

+07 Tate St. Phones 7306-9465

SEBURN'S, INC.

Registered Jewelers No. 201

116 North Elm Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

University of North Carolina. At home Elm City.

Margaret Tyson '38 to Hal Rowe Marsh, June 24, First Baptist Church, Georgetown, S. C. Nell Tyson '39 was maid of honor. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of North Carolina, and is now a member of the Policy Loan Department of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, Greensboro.

Rachel Tabor '39 to John Franklin Havener, June 9, Arlington, Va. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of West Virginia, and did graduate work at Carnegie Tech. He is engaged in economic research in the Washington offices of the Consolidated Coal Company. At home Washington.

NECROLOGY

On Thursday night, May 25, Elizabeth Melver Weatherspoon — "Mrs. Weather- spoon" as she was known to thousands of the alumnae, slipped quietly away, following an extended illness. This mere note is made of her death at this time, but in the next number of the News a memorial tribute, now being prepared by one of her close friends and associates, will be published.

Polly Fulford Hudgins (Mrs. D. E. Hudgins), com-26, died at Sternberger Hospital in Greensboro, on April 11, following a critical illness of about two weeks. Previous to her marriage several years ago, she was secretary for a year in the Alumnae Office at Woman's College, and in that post endeared herself to alumnae, faculty, and students. At the time of her death she was president of the Junior League of Greensboro. She was also active in church and social circles, was a member of the Little Gate Garden Club, and of the Assembly. In every capacity, she served joyously and efficiently. To her husband, a member of the law firm of Smith, Wharton and Hudgins, and to the small daughter and son, our deepest sympathy is extended.

Alice Thompson (Mrs. C. J. Klemme) '27, who died on June 19, in Lafayette, Ind., following an illness of several months.

Sarah Patterson Brison ex-'36 who died on May 29, at her home in Gastonia.

We Extend Deepest Sympathy:

To Ethel McNairy '12 and Bessie McNairy ex-'15 in the death of their brother on May 24.

To Irene Perkins Isley '22 in the death of her mother, May 4, Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro.

Remember: You Always Save at Belk's

BELK'S INVITE YOU TO SEE THEIR

Flattering Favorites

COATS · DRESSES · HATS · SHOES · NOTIONS

All college girls will love our advance styles . . . and you'll refresh your spirits, wardrobe and appearance at such a small cost. We like to see you . . . even if you don't buy! Come in today!

BELK'S

Greensboro's Most Popular Department Store

BY THE WAY
...PAUSE
AND REFRESH

Park...and pause...where you see the red sign that says "Drink Coca-Cola." It flashes a welcome invitation to enjoy a sociable pause for pure refreshment. Thirst asks nothing more.

GREENSBORO COCA-COLA BOTTLING CO.

AUTHENTIC FASHIONS
TRADITIONAL QUALITY
GUARANTEED SAVINGS

in our

AUGUST SALE OF Fine Furs • Costumes
Furred Coats • Suits

AIR-CONDITIONED

the NEW Brownhill's

MOJUD

Clari-phane

SILK STOCKINGS

You'll enjoy your Summer activities just twice as much if you're wearing stockings that really fit, since you'll be more comfortable and cut down on hosiery bills! All you have to do is get our Mojud Clari-phane silk stockings in your correct leg length, and know the fun of wearing stockings that are thoughtfully fashioned to fit at thigh, knee, calf and ankle!

Manufactured by

MOCK, JUDSON, VOEHRINGER CO. OF NORTH CAROLINA, INC.
GREENSBORO, N. C.